Theme Contest

Q. A few months ago I sent in a suggested theme for next year's Rose Parade in Pasadena, but I haven't heard anything from the parade sponsors. Has the theme choice been made? H. G., Long Beach.

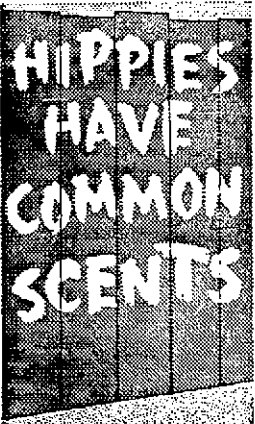

Action Line

A. Yes. "Holidays Around the World" — suggested by a Los Angeles man — was chosen 1970 Tournament of Roses theme from more than 7,000 entries, according to a spokesman for the tournament's association. Each spring, possible themes are solicited from the public and the association's float committee narrows down the entries to about 25. The association's executive board reaches a final decision based on contemporary events and past themes, the spokesman said. This year's winner and his guest will be honored by the association with special reviewing seats at the float parade — the 81st — and free tickets to the Rose Bowl game.

Slipper Slip-Up

Q. Three months ago, I ordered a pair of slippers, a hair trimmer and other items from Spencer Gifts, Inc., in Atlantic City, N.J. I was not satisfied with any of the products so I returned them and asked for a refund. They sent me $1.98 for my "inconvenience," but did not do anything about the full $8 slipper price. Can you help? R. A., Long Beach.

A. Mrs. J. A. Simmons of Spencer Gifts, Spencer Building, Atlantic City, told ACTION LINE you "apparently" are entitled to the slipper refund even though company records indicate one refund already was sent to you. She said you will be refunded the $7.98 price anyway since the records are unclear. She said she found no record of your requests for refunds on the other items. A spokesman for the Atlantic City Better Business Bureau said Spencer Gifts handles mostly out-of-state mail-order business and the BBB has not received many complaints about them. The BBB files indicate Spencer makes an attempt to settle problems arising from the complaints. ACTION LINE, however, has received numerous complaints recently about this mail order firm.

Nail Call

Q. I have heard that Revlon Inc. buys fingernails. How can I sell mine? C. R., Long Beach.

A. ACTION LINE failed to nail down a buyer for you. Janice Martins, fashion and publicity coordinator for Revlon Inc. in New York, said the firm has never purchased fingernails. "We manufacture nail-treatment chemicals and polishes, but we don't even make false fingernails. I don't know how the rumor that we purchased fingernails got started," she said. ACTION LINE checked with several other cosmetic firms, but could find none which buy real fingernails.

Foreign Matter

Q. My mother, who does not speak English, will be arriving soon in New York from France on Sabena Airlines. It is important I get in touch with her before she catches a flight for Los Angeles, but because of a mixup in our letters I do not know what airline she will be taking to Los Angeles. How can I best contact her in New York? D. K. Long Beach.

Action Line

A. A spokesman for the arrival desk of Sabena Airlines in New York's Kennedy International Airport said he will see to it that your mother is given your message as she leaves the airliner. Kennedy International Airport also has numerous courtesy telephones with multilingual operators who give non-English-speaking travelers assistance in placing calls anywhere in the United States.

HOW TO USE ACTION LINE

Be sure to use ACTION LINE'S special number—432-3451—not The Independent Press-Telegram's regular number, so your question or problem can be recorded. If the lines are busy, a postcard or letter will receive equal attention.

Give your name, address and telephone number — not for publication—but to help ACTION LINE help you. Include important information, but don't send pictures, documents, receipts or items you want returned.

Only one query at a time please, so ACTION LINE can help as many readers as possible. The volume of mail and the number of telephone calls make it impossible to answer, or even acknowledge, every question. Please don't send stamps or self-addressed envelopes, as answers are given only in this column.

NEGLIGENCE, DERELICTION OF DUTY

Evans Skipper May Escape 2 Counts

SUBIC BAY NAVAL

BASE, Philippines (UPI)

— The Navy may drop charges of negligence and dereliction of duty against Cmdr. Albert S. McLemore, who was captain of the Long Beach-based destroyer USS Frank E. Evans when the ship was sliced in two by the Australian carrier Melbourne.

Navy sources said they believed the basis for proceedings with a court-martial against McLemore, 40, of San Pedro, would be on the naval doctrine of "accountability." As skipper of the ship, he was finally responsible for the actions of all aboard.

The possibility arose Friday when instructions were requested of 7th fleet commander, Vice Adm. William F. Bringle, following mild punishment of two officers who were on the bridge of the Evans when the collision occurred June 3 in the South China Sea with the loss of 74 lives.

CANBERRA, Australia (UPI) — Capt. John P. Stevenson, officer in command of the Australian aircraft carrier Melbourne when it collided with the U. S. destroyer Evans, has been given a shore assignment, the navy announced Friday. A navy spokesman said Stevenson's new assignment was routine.

One of the officers, Lt. (j.g.) Ronald C. Ramsey, testified at his trial that he McLemore. McLemore was off duty and sleeping in his quarters and Ramsey was the senior deck officer on duty.

Among the charges against McLemore was that he was not awake when the Evans was ordered to change station to 1,000 yards astern of the Melbourne.

The sources also pointed to the Navy's decision to drop four of seven specifications in its charges against Ramsey, 24, of Long Beach.

Ramsey Thursday pleaded guilty to negligence and dereliction of duty and received a reprimand and loss of 1,000 promotional points for his role in the collision.

The other officer on the bridge at the time, Lt. (j.g.) James A. Hobson, 28, of Kansas City, Kan., was reprimanded by Admiral Bringle at a nonjudicial hearing Sept. 4.

Senate to Study Carrier

Rejects Delay on $1½-Billion Nuclear Ship

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate overwhelmingly rejected a move Friday to delay construction of a half-billion-dollar nuclear aircraft carrier but agreed to a comprehensive congressional study of the role of the carrier in modern warfare.

First the Senate turned down, 75 to 7, an amendment by critics of defense

WASHINGTON — The Air Force and Navy could have saved $35 million last year by eliminating duplicate orders for space aircraft engines, Congress' watchdog agency reported Friday. The General Accounting Office said Air Force definitions showed the engines were duplicates — and the Navy said it bought the engines because the Air Force did.

spending to hold up the proposed new carrier CVAN-69 after one of the stormiest sessions in the seven-week-old debate over the $20 billion military procurement bill.

Then, at the urging of carrier opponents, Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., the bill's floor manager, offered a compromise amendment under which his Senate Armed Services Committee — which favors aircraft carriers — would conduct the study. The Senate approved, 82 to 0.

The vote on delay of the carrier construction was virtually meaningless because most the amendment's backers voted against their own proposal when they saw they would go down to resounding defeat anyway.

The original amendment was sponsored by Sens. Walter Mondale, D-Minn., and Clifford P. Case, R-N.J.

270 Tons of Bombs Dropped

Combined News Services

SAIGON, Saturday — American B-52 bombers resumed raids over South Vietnam Friday night, pounding targets in two sections of the country after a 36-hour suspension of the raids failed to inspire any scaling down of the war by North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops.

Military spokesmen said the eight-engine Stratofortresses flew one mission late Friday and two more this morning, dropping at least 270 tons of bombs on suspected Communist positions in Long Khanh Province, about 28 miles northeast of Saigon, and near Phu Cat, 285 miles northeast of the capital.

PRESIDENT NIXON ordered the raids resumed earlier Friday because there had been no response from the communist side to the Allied move toward de-escalation. The suspension coincided with a White House meeting in Washington involving Nixon, Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. Commander in Vietnam, and presidential advisors.

The raids had been suspended earlier in the week during the 72-hour Viet Cong cease-fire in memory of the late President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam. Four raids were flown before dawn Thursday.

SURF'S UP DESPITE AN EARLY FOG

Early morning fog and low clouds may dampen the spirits of Southland beachgoers this morning, but the weatherman promises hazy sunshine in the afternoon.

Weekend weather will be much like Friday's he says, with a high of 84 and a low near 60.

But seaside fog won't dampen the opening of the 11th Annual International Surfing Championships at Huntington Beach this morning.

Fog or not, the surf's up, championship officials say.

Girl Knifed to Death; Drugged Suspect Held

A 15-year-old South Gate girl was slashed to death in her home Friday.

A suspect in the brutal killing — believed to be under the influence of drugs — was arrested by Lakewood sheriff's officers a short time later after his car slammed into another vehicle at Paramount Boulevard and Madison Street in Paramount.

The mutilated body of Melodie Wilmoth, 10731 Madge Ave., was found shortly after noon — sprawled in a welter of blood — by her 8 and 13-year-old brothers.

A BLOODY hunting knife with a six-inch blade was on the floor near the victim's body.

"It's the worst stabbing I have ever seen in my 30 years in police work," Asst. Police Chief W. H. Henderson said describing the scene.

Henderson said the victim's brothers told officers 20-year-old Joe Louis Espinoza, 15746 Blaine St., Bellflower, was visiting their home earlier.

The brothers said they left after a violent argument flared between their sister and Espinoza. When they returned a short time later, they found their sister's body on the floor. Espinoza was gone.

SHERIFF'S officers said they were investigating the traffic accident in Paramount when they heard a radio broadcast describing Espinoza and his vehicle.

They recognized the suspect from the description and placed him under guard.

Spinoza, who was semi-conscious, was taken to Hospital in Compton.

Bomb Kills Marine

CAMP PENDLETON — One Marine was killed and another injured Friday when a hand grenade exploded during a training exercise, officials said. An investigation was under way. Names of the victims were not released.

Congress Probes Brutality at Camp Pendleton Prison

Associated Press

Congressional investigators arrived Friday to look into a magazine's report of beating and mistreatment of Marine prisoners in the brig at Camp Pendleton.

The magazine, Nation, said prisoners have been caged outdoors and forced to stand naked in mirrored rooms.

The Marine Corps confirmed use of outdoor cages until recently but said in Washington no evidence had been found of mirrored rooms. The magazine indicated its information came from a former chaplain at the base.

MAJ. GEN. Donn Robertson Jr., base commander, met investigators from the House Armed Services Committee and Marine Lt.

Col. Dale Wood from Washington, a spokesman said.

In Washington, Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., said the committee's investigators would stay in California as long as necessary.

"I DIRECTED that the committee staff should conduct an immediate investigation of the situation as soon as we became aware of allegations that special problems existed at the Camp Pendleton brig," Rivers said.

He told the Marine Corps told his committee earlier this year of serious overcrowding with 800 or more prisoners held in facilities designed for 392.

Gen. Leonard Chapman Jr., Marine Corps commandant, touring California Marine bases, said Friday practically all Marine stockades are overcrowded.

"There is a certain amount of overcrowding," Chapman said. "This is because there are more Marines now during the Vietnam conflict."

"WE HAVE asked for funds to alleviate this," Chapman spoke at a news conference at El Toro Marine Air Station, about 30 miles north of Camp Pendleton.

The military construction bill passed Aug. 5 by the House and sent to the Senate would authorize a $2.5-million brig to replace the present complex of barracks-type buildings surrounded by barbed wire.

Four Yanks Killed in Copter Crash

Combined News Service

SAIGON, Saturday — An American helicopter crashed into a mountainside near South Vietnam's central coast, killing all eight men aboard, military spokesmen said today. Four of the victims were Americans. Spokesmen said the helicopter crashed Friday night near Qui Nhon, about 260 miles northeast of Saigon, after it developed engine trouble while flying through a monsoon rain. Three Korean officers, four American crewmen, and a Viet Cong prisoner were killed. The prisoner was being taken to the Korean Tiger Division headquarters when the crash occurred, spokesmen said.

Peace Talks Taken by Surprise

PARIS — President Nixon's orders for a resumption of B-52 air raids came as a surprise here on the eve of the 33rd session of the Vietnam peace talks. Announcement of the temporary halt in the raids had appeared to give American and South Vietnamese negotiators a distinct edge at the conference table for today's session. There was no official reaction to the resumption from the Communist side, but a source close to the Hanoi and Viet Cong negotiating teams said the Nixon orders showed that "the war goes on unchanged." Meanwhile, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin pledged the Soviet Union's "complete support" of the Communist side in talks on the Vietnam war with North Vietnamese leaders during the funeral of Ho Chi Minh, Radio Hanoi said Friday night. The broadcast monitored in Saigon said Kosygin "firmly believed" that the Communists would win.

Arabs Defy Israeli Warnings

CAIRO — Egyptian artillery shelled Israeli positions along the Southern portion of the Suez Canal Friday night in defiance of Israel's warning to the Arabs that it may intensify its retaliatory attacks by land, sea and air. An Egyptian military spokesman said the firing continued for several hours until Israeli gun positions were silenced. He did not elaborate, but military sources in Cairo said the shelling was to demonstrate the Egypt was not deterred by Israeli threats.

2 Yanks Die in Manila Air Crash

MANILA — A Philippine Air Lines jetliner approaching Manila International Airport for an instrument landing Friday crashed when a power failure apparently cut off signals from an automatic direction finder. A total of 45 of the 47 persons aboard was killed. Two of the victims were identified as Americans. The crash was the worst in Philippine aviation history, spokesmen said. The dead Americans were identified as Elmer R. Cooley, 49, and his wife, Roberta, 48, of Akron, Ohio. Cooley was manager of the B.F. Goodrich Rubber plant in the Philippines.

Czechs Sentence Two Protesters

PRAGUE — A Czechoslovak court Friday handed down the first known sentences for violence committed during anti-Soviet demonstrations that broke out on the first anniversary of the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia. Three youths were sentenced to eight to 10 months in jail "for an attack on a public official on Aug. 19" — two days before the anniversary. Disturbances before the anniversary grew into full-scale riots and street fighting in Prague and other cities over the anniversary itself.

Protestants Attack British, Catholic Bar

BELFAST — A Protestant mob attacked three British army trucks and a Catholic bar Friday night. British troops intervened when a rival crowd of Catholics advanced, bent on revenge. Both sides dispersed when the troops moved up and an army spokesman said "the steam seems to have gone out of it." The spokesman said the Protestants "bashed and banged the roofs and windows of the army trucks. The soldiers inside decided discretion was the better part of valor and moved away."

NATIONAL

Historic Mining Recovery Project

FARMINGTON — Step by cautious step, work teams moved through the initial phases of removing the huge concrete seals on Consol No. 9 Friday, releasing methane gas from the coal mine that killed 78 men in a series of earth-shuddering explosions 10 months ago. The first seal was removed from an air shaft by a 30-man work party, including three wearing gas masks to protect them from the lethal gas. Crews began removing another seal, two miles away at the main entrance, shortly before noon. A West Virginia official said removal of the seals was the first step in "the biggest recovery operation in coal mining history."

Teamsters Close Down Waterfront

SAN FRANCISCO — Teamster pickets closed down the San Francisco waterfront Friday and began curtailing dock work at Oakland in the dispute with longshoremen over handling of containerized cargo. Members of the Teamsters Union appeared at every major pier in San Francisco carrying signs with one word on them — "picket." The union started hit-and-run picketing on the San Francisco waterfront three days ago to protest assignment of containerized cargo to members of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

Desegregation 'Retreat' Charged

WASHINGTON — The U. S. Civil Rights Commission accused the Nixon administration Friday of a "major retreat" in school desegregation by switching to less effective enforcement methods and granting delays in deadlines for compliance. The commission in a 100-page report said school segregation "continues as the pattern and not the exception of education in many states" 15 years after the Supreme Court outlawed dual school systems. "The new procedures and recent actions involving efforts to bring about school desegregation appear to be a major retreat in the struggle to achieve meaningful school desegregation," the commission said.

Date Set for Kennedy Inquest

BOSTON — The chief justice of the Massachusetts Supreme Court Friday set Oct. 8 as the date of a hearing on requests by lawyers for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy to overturn century-old ground rules for an inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne. Raymond S. Wilkins said the hearing would be open to members of the news media. The chief justice also directed lawyers for Kennedy and other witnesses to be called to the inquest to have ready before the hearing legal briefs on their request. Atty. Gen. Robert H. Quinn is expected to represent the state.

Hughes Tool Buys Air West

SAN FRANCISCO — Air West announced Friday the purchase of the merged airline's assets by the Hughes Tool Co. E. N. Altman, executive vice president of Air West, explained that Howard Hughes had agreed to buy the air line by exercising an option to do so through a different corporation. Altman said the corporation could be either an entity already in existence, or a new one freshly created by Hughes. The original purchase contract, which named a figure of $94 million, provided that the option would guarantee that Hughes Tool assumed Air West's obligations of all debts, taxes liabilities and other obligations.

Crash Victims in Mass Burial

INDIANAPOLIS — Unidentified victims of Tuesday's in-flight collision which caused the crash of an Allegheny Airlines DC-9 jet, killing a total of 83 persons, will be buried in a mass grave at the Shelbyville, Ind., Cemetery next Wednesday it was disclosed Friday. About half of the 82 victims aboard the airliner remained unidentified, authorities said. None of the bodies was found intact. The body of the pilot of the light plane involved in the accident was found with his craft, about a mile from the main crash scene. Bodies which have been identified will be released to relatives today, Shelby County authorities said.

Defector Claims 'Frame-Up'

Combined News Services

Black Revolutionary Robert F. Williams, who fled the U.S. eight years ago, flew home Friday to face — and fight — kidnapping charges in North Carolina he said were a "frame-up." Protected by a flying wedge of black legionnaires of the Republic of New Africa that he heads, Williams was whisked in and out of two Detroit courtrooms within three hours after landing on a dramatic special flight from London.

"I've returned because I'm not guilty. It was a frame-up," Williams told newsmen after being freed on $10,000 personal bond. His attorneys vowed that the 44-year-old Williams would fight extradition to North Carolina, where he is wanted on a charge of kidnapping a white couple during racial disturbances in 1961. He fled the U.S. after the incident. Williams stepped into the waiting arms of the FBI on his return Friday. Agents promptly arrested him on a federal fugitive warrant. He was arraigned in U.S. District Court, where he was released on $10,000 personal bond pending his appearance in Detroit Common Pleas Court on the kidnapping charge. There, the judge ordered him to reappear within 60 days. It was assumed that during that time, North Carolina authorities would demand his extradition.

SHIRLEY OKd

The Senate Friday confirmed former child actress Shirley Temple Black and nine others as delegates and alternates to the 24th session of the United Nations General Assembly. Meanwhile, President Nixon selected another woman, Maryland State Sen. Louise Gore, to be the U.S. member of the executive board of the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural organization.

DUKE TO WAIL

Duke Ellington will play the favorite hymn of the late Bishop James Pike at a Requiem Mass Sunday in New York. The song, "The Peace of God," calls on mankind to "pray for one thing — the marvelous peace of God." Pike died last week in the Judean Desert after his rented car became stuck in a dry creek bed. His wife, Diane, walked to safety, and her husband's body was found several days later.

ELBRICK IN U.S.

Ambassador Charles Burke Elbrick, who was kidnapped last week by Brazilian extremists, returned to the U.S. He flew from Rio de Janeiro to New York and was spending the weekend at the home of friends before going on to Washington late Sunday for consultations.

IKE MEMORIAL

President Nixon has been invited to lay a wreath on the grave of former president Dwight D. Eisenhower in Abilene, Kans. Oct. 14 on Eisenhower's 79th birthday anniversary. The ceremony will coincide with issuance of a commemorative stamp honoring the five-star general.

DEAN GRONOUSKI

John A. Gronouski, former postmaster general and U.S. ambassador to Poland, was named Friday as the first dean of the $12-million Lyndon B. Johnson school of public affairs at the University of Texas in Dallas.

DIANA DORS

British actress Diana Dors gave birth Friday to a son, Jason, at a London nursing home. Miss Dors, 37, is married to actor Alan Lake, she has two sons by a previous marriage.

PHYLLIS POOPED

Comedienne Phyllis Diller, 52, hospitalized for treatment of acute gastritis and exhaustion brought on by overwork, said Friday she was "still popped" but expected to leave the hospital during the weekend. "There are so many flowers in my room it looks like a funeral parlor," said Miss Diller, who was hospitalized in Santa Monica Thursday. She plans to recuperate at her home for several weeks.

BROKER NAMED

Robert L. Simpson, a Brawley real estate broker, was appointed today campaign director of Californians for Murphy, a citizens group backing reelection of Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif. Robert L. Meyer, state campaign chairman for Murphy, announced the selection in Los Angeles.

DROPOUT FETED

Frank Sinatra, a dropout of Demarest High School in Hoboken, N.J., has been elected an honorary alumnus of UCLA. The announcement was made Sunday by UCLA Alumni President William C. Farer, who cited Sinatra's service to the university, notably the donation of an annual student music prizes.

LUFT PAYS

Sid Luft, divorced husband of the late Judy Garland, was fined $500 Friday for passing a bad check at an Asbury Park Hotel to cover his ex-wife's bill. The check for $2,600 was given to the hotel by Luft on June 29, 1968 when Miss Garland was appearing at the Garden State Arts Center in Holmdel, N.J. Luft was convicted June 17. Luft paid his fine by check.

BERNADETTE TOUR NETS

Bernadette Devlin, fiery member of parliament from Ulster, failed to raise even 10 per cent of her goal of $1 million for the victims of religious strife in Northern Ireland during her visit to America, it was disclosed Friday. Brian Heron, national coordinator of the National Association for Irish Justice, said Miss Devlin's appeal realized about $95,000. He said he was not disappointed because "the amount of publicity she received would have gone into millions of dollars if we had to pay for it." "In that respect, her tour was extremely useful," he said. Miss Devlin, 23, flew home Sept. 2 but $900 and $1,000 has come into the association office every day since, Heron said. He said half the money—$49,453 — had been raised in New York with "a large number of Jews and blacks" contributing. Miss Devlin's expenses for the tour were described as "less than $1,000."

BARRYMORE

A bench warrant was issued Friday for the arrest of John Drew Barrymore, 37, son of the late actor John Barrymore, when he failed to appear for a preliminary hearing in Desert Municipal Court on drug charges. Barrymore was scheduled to appear Aug. 29 but the hearing was postponed at his attorney's request. He was booked at Indio County Jail after an auto accident Aug. 4 on California 62 and narcotics were reportedly found in the car.

Moral Guides Changed

Protests Bring State Revision of School Precepts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A state Board of Education member said Friday that a new set of moral guidelines for California schools "will be quite different" from an original, controversial proposal.

Rev. Donn Moomaw of Los Angeles, head of a committee working on the guidelines, told fellow board members he expects to have a final proposal ready for action in December or January.

"Our mail now is stupendous," Moomaw told newsmen. He said many letters from the public were "very uplight" about moral guidelines proposed to the board earlier this year.

THE ORIGINAL proposed guidelines, drawn up by another committee, questioned the philosophy of so-called "humanists," including some Unitarian churchmen. It also suggested teaching an alternative to the theory of evolution.

Later, board President Howard Day said the original guidelines were not accepted by the board and named Moomaw, a Presbyterian minister, to head a new committee.

Moomaw said "The results will be quite a bit different" from the original proposed guidelines.

At a reporter's urging, Moomaw also agreed to open the next scheduled committee to the public. It is planned for Sept. 27 in Los Angeles.

MOOMAW SAID the committee's previous, closed meetings had not violated the state's Brown Act requiring open meetings of public boards. The education board's attorney, Robert Coffman, agreed, but added that the closed committee meetings did not follow board policy.

Moomaw also said that a first, rough draft of the proposed guidelines was prepared by David Hubbard, president of the Fuller Theological Seminary in Pasadena and a committee member. The seminary is Protestant and inter-denominational.

In other action, the board named two top State Education Department officials to new positions of deputy superintendent.

They are Wilson Riles, director of compensatory education, who will continue to hold his present job — for the time being — and Ray Johnson, now associate superintendent for administration.

RILES, A NEGRO, is a nationally-recognized specialist dealing with education of needy, minority group children. His new post will involve educational programs for all children.

Both new positions were approved by the 1969 legislature. Everett T. Calvert holds a third top post under state school chief Max Rafferty as chief deputy superintendent.

In discussing moral guidelines Moomaw told newsmen he had wanted to get broad-based religious representation on his committee. But he admitted he did not know the religions of all the group's members.

COUNTY JOB RATE RECORD FOR AUGUST

A record 3,170,000 persons were employed in Los Angeles County during August, 59,100 more than in the same month a year ago, Employment Director Gilbert L. Sheffield said Friday.

Most of the new jobs, Sheffield said, were generated by increased demand in trade and service activities.

However, employment in August was restrained by a strike of operating engineers affecting building activity in the county.

In the construction industry, employment was off sharply from the July level as the dispute spread through the industry, but an agreement in the dispute was reached near the end of August.

THREE BOYS FOR DADDY

Francisco Hernandez, a Tijuana construction engineer, sees triplet sons for first time Friday as his wife, Martha, smiles proudly. The unnamed infants, each weighing six pounds, are the first triplets born at Mercy Hospital in San Diego since 1951. Mother and infants were reported doing well.

SDS Will Defy Ban in Schools

STANFORD (AP) — A Stanford leader of Students for a Democratic Society declared Friday that the SDS will defy the State Board of Education with a recruiting drive in high schools.

The board Thursday declared the leftist student organization unfit to be recognized in California junior and senior high schools.

"It won't work," declared Jim Shoch, 22, in denouncing the resolution. "The high school kids are too far advanced and the board's order will have no influence whatsoever."

"It is a repressive declaration and will be challenged effectively."

SOCH SAID the SDS will become increasingly organized in the San Francisco Bay Area and suggested that the organization is not known for being passive.

Shoch is under suspension from Stanford for his role in demonstrations last spring against war-related research.

Scott Johnson, 24, a Stanford activist not affiliated with SDS, said the state board's action approving State Schools Supt. Max Rafferty's policy against SDS was to be expected. The resolution was approved by an 8-2 vote.

Man Sliced to Death by Machine

A 29-year-old Los Angeles man was killed Friday when he stumbled into a scrapmetal shearing machine at Pacific Terminal Inc., 1920 W. 8th St., police said.

The coroner's office identified the victim as Charles W. Sims, 530 W. 128th St., Los Angeles, who apparently died instantly when his body was severed by the machine.

A witness to the tragedy, 25-year-old Dennis Walsborn, 4709 McNabb Ave., said Sims had climbed down into the huge, two-story hydraulic metal-chopping machine to clear a jam when the device suddenly started, shearing his body in two.

Reagan Criticizes Primary, Secondary School Systems

By BOB HOUSER Political Editor

Gov. Ronald Reagan Friday scored the irrelevance of primary and secondary education in California as a breeder of future unemployment, especially among minority groups.

Speaking to 700 persons at the 10th anniversary luncheon of the Fair Employment Practices Commission in the Beverly Hilton Hotel, Los Angeles, Reagan cited the principal complaints he gathered from his tours through minority neighborhood and from business and industry leaders working on the job problem.

"The schools aren't teaching our children how to prepare themselves for jobs," was one such complaint. "Why shouldn't my son drop out? The school turned him off — he needs education for the real world he faces."

"GET THE schools to teach the kids how to read and write and add up a column of figures . . . how can we put them through on-the-job training when they can't read a work manual?" was another complaint.

In almost every metropolitan area he visited, Reagan said, mothers told him their children were promoted, not because they had learned, but because they had reached the end of a year.

"One mother told me her son has missed 10 weeks of school and no one had told her or asked where he was . . . This is quite an indictment of a modern day school," he said.

Reagan charged the entire educational system is geared toward college preparation but half of our young people have no interest in going to college.

"The uneducated, the unmotivated, the turned-off and dropped-out," said the governor, "are today's corps from which springs the unemployment problems of tomorrow."

HE ADVOCATED a "co-operative, joint venture of the private and public sectors" to solve community problems "in an honest, lasting way free of the Scotch tape and band-aid approach of bureaucracy which has plagued us far too long."

Reagan noted that "non-discrimination is the policy of the State of California both in principle and practice" and pointed out that his administration has appointed more members of various minority groups to key spots in the executive branch of state government than has ever been done before.

"The day will come, and soon, I hope," said Reagan, "when such things can be done without comment or the need for comment."

The governor joined state FEPC Chairman Pier Gherini in the wish, as Reagan put it, that in "10 years from now we may have restored and expanded and implemented the American dream to the point that there is no longer any need for an FEPC."

Reagan Denies Alioto's 'Circulation' Charge

"I'm not going to let the mayor involve me in his troubles," Gov. Reagan said Friday of San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto and a Look magazine article alleging links between Alioto and the Mafia.

Regan told newsmen in Los Angeles he saw the article before its publication date but denied that his staff helped disseminate it.

Contents of the article, said Regan were public knowledge "for weeks in advance."

"If the mayor is going to get all the people together who were talking about that article," he said, "he's going to have a bigger crowd in San Francisco, than they had at the Worlds Fair."

ALIOTO has filed a $12.5-million libel suit against Look and named two of Regan's press aides in a complaint, alleging they distributed the article in advance. Alioto said he would show the magazine's "malice" by proving they gave an early copy to "a political figure," the governor.

To Regan, such an early peek at a story was "common practice," he said Friday. "If anyone thinks there's anything of interest to the state in such an article," he said, "it's practice to put it in my incoming file."

"If there is any idea that we had any concerted effort to disseminate this article," he said, "there was no such thing."

Prison Hunger Strike Continues; FBI Probes

Almost a thousand inmates at the Federal Correctional Institution on Terminal Island were continuing their protest hunger strike late Friday, prison officials said.

Warden Greig Richardson said virtually all of the 174 women inmates and a majority of the male prisoners refused their meals as a team of FBI agents probed an incident of alleged "unnecessary roughness" at the prison.

The warden said that he is keeping the prison's routine "normal as possible." Visiting hours will continue as usual, he added.

A KNOCK-DOWN, drag-out battle between two drunken female inmates Wednesday night is believed to have triggered a chain of events which initiated the hunger strike.

Richardson said the donkeybrook got out of hand and matrons had to call in male guards to quell the disturbance. This led to complaints of the male guards allegedly using unnecessary roughness in separating the two women and hustling them off to segregation cells.

The hunger strike by women prisoners began Thursday, the warden said, apparently in protest to the alleged wrongs. He said the FBI agents were sent in to investigate the allegations and they are not there as a security measure.

RICHARDSON was at loss to explain how the two battling female inmates obtained intoxicating beverages. This matter is still under investigation, he added.

Male prisoners later joined in the hunger strike, apparently in sympathy with the women's protest.

"Most of the inmates here are sensible people," Richardson said. "When they hear the truth, things will cool off."

FOLSOM (UPI) — Folsom Prison officials kept all 2,414 inmates in their cells for a third straight day Friday awaiting word from them on when they want to return to their normal routine.

The prisoners have been locked in their cells since Wednesday when 600 of them refused to go back to work in protest over the state's policy of indeterminate sentences.

A prison spokesman said the inmates would be let out of their cells today only if they have visitors. Saturday and Sundays are days off from work at the prison. The next scheduled work day is Monday.

"We're conducting an assessment of the circumstances," the spokesman said. "Anytime they show a responsiveness in going back to normalcy and returning to work, we'll go back to regular operations."

He indicated the lockup would probably not end until at least Monday.

Weinberg was stricken Thursday aboard a Brazil-to-Miami jetliner, only a few hours after he had completed the 380-foot dive on an oil drilling project off the Brazilian coast. The flight—a Pan American scheduled run—was diverted to Key West where specialized equipment for handling bends cases is available.

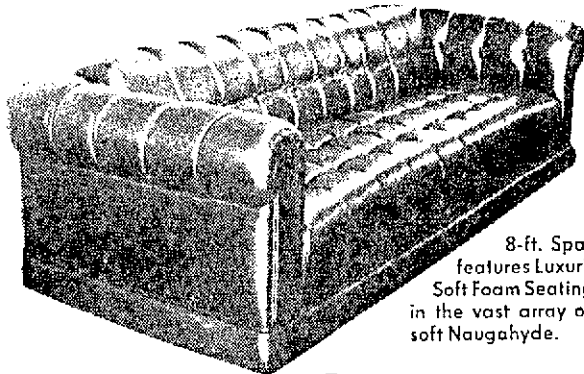

A spokesman at the Navy's Bolsa Chica base said that doctors were maintaining a constant vigil on Weinberg.

U.S. Aim: Make Pot Too Costly for Youth Use

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon Administration said Saturday it hopes to stop the flow of marijuana into this country from Mexico and push the price of the drug so high students will not be able to afford it.

Dep. Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst told a news conference the Administration hopes to use the economic law of supply and demand instead of the often-harsh criminal narcotics laws to break the campus and youth drug culture.

"We hope to drive the price so high it will be unavailable to students in colleges and high schools ... who are using it so commonly today," Kleindienst said.

"IT IS NOT our objective to make thousands of arrests in the United States," he said. "It is our objective first to stop the flow of marijuana and heroin and dangerous drugs across the border and secondly to eradicate production of these drugs in Mexico," he said.

Kleindienst, standing on a platform decorated with more than $1 million worth of confiscated marijuana, hashish and opium, discussed the report of a presidential task force which recommended the use of aircraft, electronic sensors and chemical defoliants to stop the drug traffic.

THE REPORT, prepared by a 22-member committee headed by Kleindienst and Asst. Treasury Secretary Eugene T. Rossides, was dated June 6, but it was not made public until Saturday.

Although the report also recommended ways to reduce the flow of hard narcotics into the U.S., most of its attention was directed to marijuana.

The task force said federal laws against marijuana smuggling should be "revised to permit greater flexibility in the prosecution." It implied present laws are sometimes so harsh they cannot be enforced.

The task force also urged the State Department to "devote its efforts to persuading Mexico to place a program for eradication and control of marijuana and dangerous drugs among the highest of its national priorities."

KLEINDIENST said the Administration would like to make marijuana smoking as expensive as using heroin. Few youths would experiment with it at that price, he predicted.

Would marijuana users turn to street crime — as heroin addicts usually do — to obtain the higher priced drug?

"Since marijuana is not addictive, we don't think that our students and young people will resort to crime in order to get it," Kleindienst replied.

The task force recommended increased inspection at the border to prevent importation of illicit drugs. Kleindienst said this might take the form of "blitz" campaigns to stop all traffic at the border.

HE CONCEDED the drive would increase the time needed for a border crossing but said he hopes the public would "accept the inconvenience as a small price to pay for correcting this problem."

Both Kleindienst and Rossides said the campaign could be conducted at little additional expense because the Customs Bureau and the Justice Department would change their present budget priorities.

Kleindienst said some report recommendations already have been put into effect. For instance, the Federal Aviation Administration now requires all light planes flying from Mexico to file flight plans to cut down on smuggling.

HE ALSO said the border patrol has acquired additional aircraft to pursue suspected aerial smugglers.

The report recommended experimentation with electronic sensors to detect growing fields of marijuana and opium poppies and recommended use of chemical weed killers to destroy the fields when located.

The report recommended the Department of Defense consider placing the border town of Tijuana off limits to U.S. servicemen. Naval authorities in San Diego recently announced such a step but Kleindienst said the announcement was a "mistake" and no ban has yet been imposed.

Icebreaker-Tanker Tries New Route

New York Times Service

HOUSTON — Polar ice packs made impenetrable by the relentless pressure of strong winds, forced the tanker Manhattan to abandon the shortest route along the northwest passage to Point Barrow, Alaska, Friday.

The Marine Department of Humble Oil & Refining Co. reported in midafternoon that the 1,002-foot tanker was in the process of turning about in McClure Strait.

A department official explained that seven days of northwest winds of up to 30 knots were exerting such pressure on the polar ice in McClure Strait that the vessel was unable to continue westward progress.

"SHE IS NOW in the process of turning around," he said, "and the Canadian icebreaker John A. MacDonald, her escort, is helping her." The MacDonald, he explained, was using her propeller wake to wet down the sides of the Manhattan to lessen the grip of the ice.

The Manhattan, he added, had penetrated 100 miles into McClure Strait in three days, and yesterday became stuck in the ice three times.

Her next move, the official said, will be to double back for about 100 miles and then enter ice-free Prince of Wales Strait to reach the Beaufort Sea by a more southerly route.

THE DETOUR will add about 350 miles to the trip. However, the Marine Department official said the detour would not alter materially the vessel's timetable. "She will still reach Point Barrow on or about Sept. 20 as originally scheduled," he prophesied.

The Manhattan's voyage is a $39 million gamble to prove that Alaskan crude oil can be moved dependably through the Northwest Passage to refineries in the eastern U.S.

The oil industry is prepared to move Alaskan oil either by water or by pipeline. If it can be done by water, it would cost 60 cents a barrel less. Anticipated daily movement is expected to be more than 2 million barrels. As a result, movement by water could save more than $5 billion in annual oil transport costs.

The 108,400-ton Manhattan, the largest merchant ship under U.S. registry, was chartered by Humble from Sealtrain Lines.

Scientists Get Moon Samples

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Moon rock samples brought to earth by the Apollo 11 astronauts were given to six scientists from the United States and England Friday, the first time the priceless samples have left the Manned Space Center.

The scientists were required to come to the center to pick up their samples. They promised to keep them in their possession until they returned to their laboratories. The samples must be returned to the space center after the experiments.

Dr. George Reed, a geochemist at the Argonne National Laboratory near Chicago, said armed guards would meet him at O'Hare field to accompany him to the laboratory where the sample would be deposited in a safe.

Dr. E. L. Fireman, an astrophysicist with the Smithsonian Institution in Cambridge, Mass., changed his travel plans for the safety of his samples.

"I was going back tomorrow night, but I will go back tonight to get it in my equipment so it won't get stolen," Fireman said. "I'm worried most about it getting stolen."

The other samples were given to Drs. Kurt Fredrickson of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, Stuart O. Agrell of the University of Cambridge, England, David McKay of the Manned Spacecraft Center and Deiter Heymann of Rice University.

A seventh sample was ready for Dr. J. R. Arnold of the University of California at San Diego but space center spokesman said Arnold was busy conducting a time experiment and will pick it up later.

In all, 142 samples will be distributed to scientists from through the nation and eight foreign countries during the next three weeks. This represents about 40 per cent of the material collected by Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin.

IBIZA, Spain (UPI) — Twenty-eight hippies were expelled Friday from this Mediterranean island and Spain. Police said they included five Americans and four women.

PREDICTS ACQUITTAL Ex-Chief Defends Accused Berets

RENO — The man who was interim commander of the Green Berets in Vietnam until two weeks ago said Friday he believes a former U.S. Special Forces commander and his men will be cleared of murder charges.

Col. Alexander Lemberes took command of the Green Berets when Col. Robert B. Rheault and seven other men were charged in the June 20 fatal shooting of a Vietnamese man, reported to have been a double agent.

He was replaced 40 days later and is home until an ankle broken in parachute training heals. After his replacement, the Army said Lemberes had been only an interim commander.

LEMBERES SAYS he hasn't seen results of a pretrial investigation completed by the Army a month ago, but "it is my hope, call it a prediction if you want, Col. Rheault and the rest will be cleared of all charges."

Lemberes also said it would be "ridiculous" to disband the Green Berets because of criticism over the incident in which Rheault and the others were charged with murder and conspiracy to murder.

Huge Foreign Fish Fleet Off E. Coast

GLOUCESTER, Mass. (UPI) — A massive foreign fishing fleet of more than 300 ships, including at least 200 flying the Soviet flag, are sweeping the New England coast.

A spokesman for the North Atlantic headquarters of the U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries said Friday the fleet is made up of ships from nine nations — the Soviet Union, East Germany, West Germany, Poland, Romania, Spain, Norway, Israel and Bulgaria.

HE SAID it was the largest number of foreign fishing vessels sighted off the New England coast in any month since 1963 when a giant Soviet armada fished the Georges Banks.

The latest count was made in August and showed 325 individual sightings with from 200-275 ships present at any one time. Of the total, he said, 212 were Russian.

The bureau said the number of foreign vessels could be expected to increase this month. They were fishing mainly for herring and White Hake.

THE VESSELS ranged in size from 140 to 300 feet, with some of the Russian-based ships as large as 400 to 450 feet. These are the factory-base ships which process the fish at sea.

The fleet is fishing in an area stretching from south of Martha's Vineyard to a point northeast of Cape Ann. Of the Russian vessels, there are eight of the factory-base ships, 39 factory-stern trawlers, 152 medium trawlers, 12 refrigerator-cargo vessels and a fuel tanker.

'More Bombing' Order Came During Meeting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The announcement that President Nixon had ordered resumption on B-52 bombing raids in Vietnam was made while the President was reviewing the entire war situation during a three hour, 40-minute White House meeting with his highest military, diplomatic and intelligence advisers from Washington and Saigon.

Future U. S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam doubtless figured in the discussions, but presidential press secretary Ron Ziegler said any decisions reached at the meeting would become apparent in the coming weeks.

After first refusing to comment on reports of the bombing suspension as a strictly military matter, Ziegler summoned newsmen and sought to counter impressions in Paris and Saigon that the halt was diplomatic gesture of de-escalation aimed at encouraging a breakthrough in the Paris peace talks.

"OUR ACTION was not in itself intended to be a signal to the other side," day prior to the 36-hour suspension of the raids.

Military spokesmen said communist troops shelled 16 targets in South Vietnam with rockets or mortar rounds Friday night and early today. Communiques showed, however, that ground fighting subsided Friday.

THE AIR FORCE says the B-52 raids keep the enemy from massing, routing him from sanctuaries and cut his infiltration routes. The B52s also are used occasionally to bomb in support of ground troops.

The planes, each capable of carrying up to 30 tons of bombs, were flying seven to 10 missions a day until the start of the three-day Viet Cong cease-fire.

The B-52s fly so high that they cannot be heard, and are the most feared weapons in the U.S. arsenal, say American officers.

"The lack of warning before the impact of their bomb loads leaves no time to take cover, and enemy troops who are not immediate casualties are often in a state of shock and completely ineffective," an Air Force officer said.

"Captured troops and documents ... reveal that nothing is more feared than a B-52 strike."

Underground Test

LAS VEGAS, Nev. P — An underground nuclear test of low yield was set off Friday by the Atomic Energy Commission at its Nevada Test Site 50 miles northwest of here.

Ziegler said. "We wanted to determine the intent of the other side as to the level of activity and give them the benefit of the doubt," he said.

He refused to say whether Hanoi had been sounded out to determine whether the short-lived bombing halt could be a negotiating point for further de-escalation of the war.

In Paris, sources close to the Communist delegation at the talks said the B-52 raids never really stopped and that "the war goes on unchanged."

AT THE MEETING in the Cabinet room near Nixon's west wing office were Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, U.S. military commander in Vietnam, and Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. Ambassador to Saigon.

They were joined by Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Adm. John S. McCain Jr., commander of U.S. Forces in the Pacific.

Rio Rebels Jailed in Envoy Kidnap

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — The Brazilian Navy announced the arrest Friday night of two suspects in the kidnapping of U.S. Ambassador C. Burke Elbrick.

One of the suspects, identified as Caludio Torres Da Silva, was captured after a gun battle in which a naval intelligence agent was wounded, the announcement said.

The other suspect was identified as Antonio Freitas da Silva. Both are members of terrorist gangs opposed to Brazil's military regime.

ELBRICK, 61, was kidnapped Sept. 4, by a group of young men who blocked his limousine as he returned to the embassy after lunch in his residence.

He was released three days after after the government complied with the kidnapers' demands to broadcast and publish their anti-government statements and to release 15 political prisoners and take them to Mexico.

The Navy, which conducted most of the investigation, said it knew of the ambassador's whereabouts within four hours after he was kidnapped but made no move to free him for fear of endangering his life. The Navy said it had photographed his abductors as they entered and left the house where he was held.

AFTER HIS release Sunday night, a raid on the house turned up quantities of subversive material. But the kidnapers already had fled, the Navy said.

The Navy, which said it plans to release photos of the other kidnapers to the press, said the kidnapping was planned by a student leader identified as Franklin De Souza Martins and carried out with the cooperation of a gang headed by Carlos Marighellas.

AF to Cut Corners on New F-111

WASHINGTON — The Air Force announced Friday it will put less expensive electronic gear in later models of the swing-wing F-111 in order to keep the price of the airplane around $8 million each.

The new version of the F-111, which has a history of costly development problems, will be designated the F-111F.

The Air Force said that in addition to the cheaper and simple avionics, the F-111F will also have an improved engine with 25 per cent greater thrust than the "D" model.

The F-111D is equipped with the expensive and complicated Mark II electronics system.

"The less costly avionics will compensate for currently estimated price escalation and permit the program to stay within the previously projected estimates of approximately $8 million flyway cost per tactical aircraft," the Pentagon said.

The first F-111Fs, beginning with the 332nd aircraft in the Air Force's swing wing series, will form the fourth tactical wing of F-111s.

The Air Force would not say how many F-111Fs will be purchased. It has already bought 321 earlier models of the F-111 including 96 "D" versions with the Mark II avionics.

Careless Criticism Is Often Road to Anger

By DR. HAIM G. GINOTT

This is the seventh of a series excerpted from "Between Parent and Teenager," by Dr. Haim G. Ginott. Reprinted by permission of The Macmillan Company.

Most parental criticism is unhelpful. It creates anger, resentment and a desire for revenge. There are even worse effects. When a teenager is constantly criticized, he learns to condemn himself and find fault with others. He learns to doubt his own worth and to belittle the value of others. He learns to suspect people and to expect personal doom.

Most criticism is unnecessary. When we take a wrong turn and lose our way, the last thing we need is criticism. It is not helpful to have our skills analyzed and evaluated at this point. What we need is a friend to give us clear directions. It is not helpful to be asked:

"Why did you take the wrong turn?"
 "Didn't you see the signs?"

U.S. 'Stay in School' Campaign

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon proclaimed a national "stay-in-school" campaign Friday.

"As the summer ends," Nixon said in a proclamation, "many young Americans are deciding whether to continue their formal education. For economic and personal reasons, some will be tempted to drop out.

"Most of those who abandon their classrooms will be forced to contest for jobs with others who possess better educational credentials. Without an opportunity to acquire relevant experience, they may be continually unable to obtain positions offering prospects for advancement."

Nixon said experience had shown concerned citizens could "play a decisive role" in encouraging and persuading potential dropouts to continue their education.

Municipal Court Judge Promoted

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Judge John A. Arguelles of the East Los Angeles Municipal Court was elevated to the Los Angeles Superior Court bench Friday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Arguelles, a Democrat, succeeded Judge John Allport, recently named a state appellate court judge. The Superior Court post pays $30,572 a year.

ALASKANS WEIGH OIL LEASE BIDS

ANCHORAGE (AP) — Alaska formally accepted 152 bids totalling almost $862.3 million from its oil lease sale and withheld judgment on 15 other bids totalling $37.9 million, the commissioner of natural resources said Friday.

Twelve other apparent high bids, totalling $14,163,000 were rejected, Commissioner Thomas Kelly said.

The sale of leases for 179 tracts of oil-rich arctic lands on Alaska's North Slope Wednesday brought the state $900,220,540 in apparent high bids.

However, the state delayed final acceptance of bids so it could compare them to its estimates of the worth of each tract and check the bids' validity.

"Can't you read?"
 "Maybe you need glasses?"
 "Why don't you think before you turn?"

Ed, age 14, promised to wash the family car. He forgot, then made a last-minute attempt to do the job.

FATHER: The car needs more work, especially on the top and on the left side. When can you do it?

ED: I can work on the car tonight, Dad.

FATHER: Thank you. In the hands of a more critical director this incident could have become a flaming drama. For instance:

FATHER: Did you wash the car?

SON: Yes, Dad.

FATHER: Are you sure?

SON: Sure, I'm sure!

FATHER: Then why is it so dirty? It's filthy! It looks worse than it did before.

SON: But I washed it!
 FATHER: You call that washing? You played — like you always do. Fun — that's all you want. You think you can go through life like that? With such sloppy work, you won't last one day on a job. You're irresponsible — that's what you are.

Constructive criticism has one main function: To point out what has to be done in the situation. Helpful criticism does not address itself to the personality. It deals with the difficult event. It never attacks the person; it talks to his condition.

WHEN FELIX, age 16, failed chemistry for the second semester, his father became alarmed. He called Felix in for a talk. He concentrated on one point: "What can be done to help with this difficult subject?"

"The father was not provoked to discuss the past or to make predictions about the future. He did not assign blame nor threaten with consequences. He maintained a problem-solving attitude. 'We have a problem — let's find a solution.'"

"To be effective as parents we may have to unlearn some deeply ingrained lessons from our own childhood. Those who do not understand the past are compelled to repeat it. blind repetition. The father's aim is to avoid such lowering excerpts from a parents' discussion group illustrate this point:

MRS. A.: When I get angry, certain phrases come to my mind full-blown. I don't have to compose them. I even use the same tone my mother did thirty years ago.

MRS. B.: My father used to call me "stupid" and I hated it. Now I find myself using the same epithet with my son. I don't like it at all. I don't like myself when I do it.

MRS. C.: My parents had a rich collection of insults in three languages. They gave them out generously. I try hard not to inflict them on my children. But when I get angry I can't help myself.

Each of us carries within himself a private collection of instant insults. This relic of our past is a needless burden. We can learn to communicate without

Reagan Names Resource Chief

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan Friday named Sigurd Hansen of Danville as a deputy director of the newly formed State Department of Human Resources Development.

Hansen, a 49-year-old Republican, will assume the $23,600-year post as deputy director of the department's tax collection and insurance payments division.

He joins the department from the Department of Professional and Vocational Standards where he was chief of the Bureau of employment agencies.

sarcasm and ridicule. There is no place for biting comments in conversations between parents and teenagers. Sarcasm evokes hatred and provokes counterattacks.

Says 16-year-old Stanley: "My father has a talent for sarcasm. His tongue is like a whip. He can cut down in a minute what you have built in a month. Last week I won our school's tennis tournament. I felt great. I was on top of the world. I said to my father, 'Hey Dad, I just beat the captain of our tennis team.' In a tone full of contempt, my father replied, 'Some captain!' At that moment I went mad. I was filled with such hate and fury that I was afraid to stay near him. I yelled back, 'Some father!' and I ran out of the room."

CRITICISM of personality and character gives a teenager negative feelings about himself. Abusive adjectives attached to personality have a devastating effect. When we call our teenager "stupid" or "clumsy" or "ugly" there are reactions in his body and soul. He reacts with resentment, anger and revenge fantasies. He may then feel guilty about his hostility and ask for punishment by acting up. His antics will lead to another cycle of criticism, punishment and revenge.

Thus, a chain of reaction is created that makes family life a torture.

A teenager who is repeatedly made to feel stupid accepts such evaluation as fact. He may give up intellectual pursuits, hoping to escape ridicule. Since competition means failure, his safety depends on not trying. In school he never volunteers. He skips tests, avoids homework, and before final exams he gets sick.

HE MAY forever remain true to a false motto: "If I don't try, I can't fail." A teenager who is repeatedly called "clumsy" incorporates this evaluation into his self-image. He may give up sports and other social pursuits in which agility is required. He is convinced that he can never be any good at them.

When Theodore, age 16, inadvertently spilled paint on the rug, his parents became enraged.

MOTHER: How many times have I told you to be careful with paint? You always make a mess of things!

FATHER (with disgust): He can't help it. He's sloppy! He always was and always will be!

There is no doubt that the cost of the ridicule far exceeded the cost of the paint. How does one price loss of confidence? Accidents should not trigger insults. It is best to clean up the paint, without smearing the personality.

Scott offered himself as a "status quo" candidate to avert a damaging intraparty fight. Baker pictured himself as a younger republican without ideological labels.

Scott, 68-year-old acting GOP leader and former National Republican chairman, and Baker, 43-year-old son-in-law of the late Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, formally announced their candidacies for the coveted post.

Sen. Roman Hruska of Nebraska, rated the most likely contender from the conservative wing, was reported still canvassing to find out if he has the votes to win. Some sources said Hruska had decided to run.

Sen. Gordon Allott's office said the Colorado senator would announce his decision Monday. There was speculation Sens. Robert Griffin of Michigan, James B. Pearson of Kansas and John G. Tower of Texas might be active contenders.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, chairman of the Senate GOP conference, said she would summon all Senate Republicans "as soon as practical" to elect Dirksen's successor. A meeting late next week is expected.

Scott said: "The dominant feeling is that we ought to avoid anything that would divide the party or interfere with the chances of getting a majority of the Senate in the 1970 elections. There is some sentiment that maintaining the status quo may be the best way — considering me for elevation."

Scott's supporters said he was ahead by a "modest margin" in any two-way race. Baker said he did not believe anybody had the votes to win now, but added, "I think I have a realistic chance."

Countering charges he was too inexperienced with only three years in the senate, Baker said he would provide a leader "not identified with the leading hierarchy, someone younger, and not labeled a liberal or a conservative."

KNEW SURGERY RISKY

Dirksen Felt He Could Beat Odds

CHICAGO (UPI) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen knew in advance his chances of surviving lung cancer surgery were only one in 10, the Chicago Daily News reported Friday.

But the Senate minority leader elected to take the chance because his doctors also told him he otherwise had only about 18 months to live, the News said in a story by its political editor, Charles Nicodemus.

Nicodemus quoted intimates of Dirksen as saying he took steps before entering the hospital to guard against what might happen if he died or became physically or mentally incapacitated.

HE SIGNED checks and papers to dispose of his continuing campaign expense fund, the News said, and prepared a resignation from the Senate to be submitted if he was no longer able to carry on his duties as senator from Illinois.

"He said the people of Illinois had been too good to him and the welfare of the state meant too much" to take such a chance, a close associate of Dirksen's was quoted as saying.

Nicodemus said Dirksen's friends were sure the senator hoped he would "beat the odds" in the same way he came back from an eye affliction which forced his resignation from the House of Representatives in the late 1940s.

AT THAT TIME, specialists told Dirksen he should undergo drastic surgery in hope of retaining at least partial sight. Dirksen had told how, en route by train to the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., "I got down on my knees and began praying for guidance." He decided not to undergo the surgery and, to doctors' amazement, his affliction eventually arrested itself and he returned to politics.

The News quoted a friend as saying, "I've no doubt he believed he might beat the same long odds this time, too."

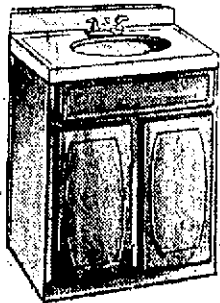

Dinners, to be hosted by the two for each other as the U.N. General Assembly Fall session gets under way, will mark the first such high-level U.S.-Soviet meeting since the Nixon Administration took office. The foreign ministers of the two countries normally talk over outstanding issues while they are attending the U.N. opening.

The Kremlin's long-awaited response to President Nixon's bid to begin strategic arms curb talks and the continuing Mideast crisis are major items on the Rogers-Gromyko agenda.

GOP Will Slash 10% From Medical Research Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon Administration canceled a temporary cut of 20 per cent for some medical research projects Friday and announced plans for a 5 to 10 per cent slash in most government-aided health research.

Dr. Roger O. Egeberg, the government's top health official, coupled the announcement with a ringing endorsement of basic medical research.

"We can't go ahead as a country unless we put all the money we can into basic research," said Egeberg, an assistant secretary of health, education and welfare.

He denied reports health research had fallen victim to the government's heightened interest in the training of medical personnel and in development of new systems for health-care delivery.

THE 5 PER CENT cut will apply to the $331.2 million the National Institutes of Health had planned to spend this year for continued support of current research projects.

Tentatively, Egeberg said, 10 per cent will be cut from the $131.4 million allocated for new research projects.

"Final congressional action on our appropriation bill has not yet occurred, so it is still too early to make any firm and final plans on our expenditures for the fiscal year," he cautioned.

He said the research cuts are part of a government-wide effort to help stop inflation through budget trimming.

The health institutes had taken the temporary step Aug. 14 of planning a 20 per cent cut in the 2,500 research grants up for renewal this month. The action was rescinded Thursday.

"ASSUMING enactment of the health budget as proposed by the Administration, we will not have to effect reductions as substantial as 20 per cent," Egeberg said.

Dr. Robert Q. Marston, national institutes director, said it is likely that as many as 19 of 93 government-supported, experimental clinical research centers will have to be closed next year.

"Rising costs, changing technology and changing programs have caused us to examine the possibility that it might further the program objectives to operate fewer clinical centers of higher quality rather than spread the funds among all centers," Egeberg said.

INTEREST TOO LOW

Compton Hits Bond Snag

By BILL MAYER
From Our L. A. Bureau

Nobody would buy bonds for a neighborhood sewer and paving project near Compton, so now property owners will have to try higher interest rates.

It could happen to you.

County officials say inflation and tight money have fallen hard on the area improvement contracts.

"Banks don't want to put up money at 6 per cent these days," County Tax Collector Harold Ostly said. "But we can go up to 7 per cent. A 1968 law makes that possible."

All that's needed now is for the Board of Supervisors to go for the interest rate increase. And Ostly doesn't see any other way.

HE SAID HE WILL GO TO THE BOARD Tuesday and ask approval for the higher ceiling.

In the case of the Compton project, everything was there except the money.

New Trail Link to Open Sept. 20

From Our L.A. Bureau

Officials will open a new experimental link Sept. 20 in the county's riding and hiking trail along the San Gabriel River in the Bellflower area.

Supervisor Frank Bonelli will attend the 9 a.m. ceremonies for the county, along with Mrs. Merlene A. Hawthorne, from Corral 27, Bellflower, and local dignitaries.

The new link, running from South Street to Alondra Boulevard, will be tested until Dec. 31, 1970, to see if it poses any threat to Flood Control District property.

If not, it will become a permanent section of the 150-mile trail.

Bonelli's office said the section will make riding and hiking easier in the section from El Dorado Park, Long Beach, to the Whittier Narrows Recreation Area.

"If the public will stay on the trail, obey all safety rules and avoid damag-

Airport
to Replace
4 Hangars

From Our L.A. Bureau

Three pastel-colored sales and service buildings soon will replace four old hangars — some constructed 45 years ago — at Compton Airport.

County officials are awaiting final architectural plans for the new buildings, but in the meantime they are trying to sell the old hangars.

If there are no buyers, the old structures will be demolished.

The county expects to pay about $315,000 for the new hangars, on a lease-back arrangement, out of profits.

Current scheduling calls for final plans in October, contractors' bids in November, and the start of construction before Jan. 1, 1970.

Head Start to Attract
7,000 Tots

About 7,000 youngsters will be enrolled in 469 classes when the Head Start preschool program opens its new term in Los Angeles County.

Head Start, beginning its fifth year of operation, is an antipoverty project funded in most of the county by the Office of Economic Opportunity and the State of California through the Economic and Youth Opportunity and the state through the Economic and Youth Opportunities Agency.

Manuel Aragon Jr., EYOA executive director, called for more volunteers to help bolster the program which this year will place "emphasis on parent involvement and career development for community aides working in the program."

ing flood control facilities," Bonelli said, "it will become a regular part of the system."

The pilot trail — as it is called — is on the east levee of the San Gabriel River.

Ribbon-cutting ceremonies will be held on the riverbed at 183rd Street.

Airman Steals
Plane, Crashes

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An Airman died early Friday when a light plane he took up without permission crashed in flames after hitting a power line.

Coroner's deputies said Airman James C. Lee, 20, McHenry, Ill., took off in the predawn darkness. The plane crashed on a vacant lot in a residential area.

The Cessna 172 was the property of the McClellan Aero Club, an organization of pleasure pilots at McClellan Air Force Base where Lee was stationed. A base spokesman said Lee belonged to the club but had never flown a plane solo prior to Friday's fatal flight. He said Lee took the plane without permission.

L.B., Gardena
Mayors Back
Japan Expo '70

Edwin W. Wade and Ken Nakaoka, mayors of Long Beach and Gardena, have been named to a special world exposition committee.

Fred I. Wada, member of the Los Angeles Harbor Commission, was also named to the body, a national citizens' committee to stimulate interest in American participation in the Japan World Exposition in Osaka next year.

Howard L. Chernoff, commissioner general of the U.S. Pavilion at EXPO '70 who will do the same for the American exhibit in Osaka, announced the appointments.

McAmis Engineering, of Gardena, submitted a satisfactory low bid of $30,037 to pave and install sewers on Athens Way at 131st St., on 131st Street and in a nearby alley.

But the supervisors couldn't award the contract.

Financial institutions simply are not interested in these 6 per cent deals. As Ostly pointed out, good grade corporate bonds are selling with returns of 8 per cent and higher, and even the tax-free aspects of the so-called municipal bonds don't make them attractive.

Home mortgages in some instances are yielding even higher returns than corporate bonds.

All bonds issued by local government agencies are free from federal income taxes, so they usually sell at a lower interest rate than corporate and other private issues.

But, as Ostly observes, there is one aspect that tends to narrow the difference.

The institutions that buy "municipals" often purchase them — not for long-term income — but to resell them for a small, immediate profit. That, in effect, raises the interest rate a bit.

RECENTLY THE BANKS HAVE NOT BEEN able to find a market for local government bonds. They have had to keep them. And now, more than at other times when money is more plentiful and commands lesser returns, the financial institutions are not eager to tie up funds.

Neighborhood projects are not the only public projects affected by the money scarcity. School bonds are not selling either.

County officials were to open bids for financing a $1,000,000 school construction project last Tuesday, but none had been submitted.

The supervisors did the only thing they could do. They sent the question back to the Pomona Unified School District, where the trustees — if they still want to build now — will have to call a new election.

THE RATE COULD GO LEGALLY TO 6 PER CENT. But not without the approval of the voters. And it might be harder to get the electorate to agree to a bond issue of any kind now than it was when the matter came up before.

"The only thing we know," one county official said, "is that it costs more money to borrow money now. And it could get worse."

"There is a bill in Congress to remove the taxing privileges now accorded municipal bonds. That would make it impossible to sell them at present interest rates for perhaps years to come."

GARDENING

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

Conservation in gardening means conserving your physical efforts and time by thoughtful planning of the garden chores you'd do systematically so you'll save extra footsteps, as well as repetitious work movements.

For example, you'll save needless extra footsteps and accomplish more work more efficiently if you assemble together the needed tools to take them all at the same time, if possible, to the garden area you plan to work in — say mowing the front yard lawn.

A "dolly" — a wood platform set on four small sturdy wheels — serves as

CULTIVATING LAWN—THE SMART WAY
Planning Ahead Can Save Time and Energy

a truck to haul tools and a rubbish drum on it. It is handier than a wheelbarrow or garden cart because you can haul more and heavier materials on it. A dolly can accommodate a 50-gallon rubbish drum and still have room for a box. The rubbish container is for long-handled tools, grass clippings and trimmings, the box for the edger, hose nozzle, lawn clippers and small garden tools.

Your lawn mower grass catcher attached to the power lawn mower also serves as an additional container for small tools, gasoline can for the mower, too.

HAVING assembled the tools, box and rubbish can on the dolly, push the lawn mower in front of you and pull the dolly behind — and you're on your way to the front yard, all in one trip!

Mow, edge and trim the parking lawn first, then turn on the sprinkler system while you're mowing the lawn. Position the dolly at a central area so you'll walk the least distance to empty grass clippings directly into the rubbish drum, instead of putting the clippings in the box then transferring them to the drum.

When mowing, clipping and trimming has been done, take the box, put any weeds rooted out of the flower or rose bed into it, and dump into the rubbish drum. Load the tools into the box and move the mower and loaded dolly out of the way. Hose off the front porch, walks, and driveway, and your front yard is done! Turn on the lawn sprinkler system and put away all the tools.

WHAT HAVE you accomplished? You've done that garden job in one operation, conserved extra physical energy not having to make several trips back and forth for certain garden tools needed to do the job.

You'll conserve energy, time and extra watering, plus save on water bill too, by mulching flower beds, around shrubs and trees, established older lawns, and new ground cover plantings.

The mulch, top cover over the soil, conserves moisture in the soil, provides a mild food value and saves on the water bill due to less frequent watering of the plants or lawns.

THE slickest way to determine whether lawn needs watering and you can't detect the signs of lawn's need for water, is to walk over the lawn. Five minutes later observe the area of lawn you walked over. If a footprint pressed down grass or dichondra leafage is limp, give that lawn an ample deep watering but soon.

One of the shrubs that we've had inquiries about that doesn't need as much fussing or care, and is apropos for discussion of saving on frequency of water, is Chamaelirium ciliatum. Geraldton wax plant originally I believe from Australia. The improved variety is Chamaelirium ciliatum Vista.

IT IS a medium-size shrub with needle-like shaped foliage that reminds one of the Decid tree leafage, but is a shiny green color. The graceful fine foliage forms a good background for the showy display of rosy-lavender cupshape blossom clusters along the branches. The plant blooms for several months in late winter-spring. The cut branches blooms bouquet last about three weeks indoors.

The plant must be kept on the dry side, but watered well when thirsty. It loves sun, and tolerates cold from 30 to 20 degrees above zero. The outward arching somewhat erratically shaped branches causes this shrub to look misshapen.

Prune the upright branches one third of their total height, and outward branches one-fourth of their total length, when plant finishes flowering.

DO IT NOW

Cutworms love thrifty dichondra lawn, feast on it and make it look like a moth eaten blanket in a week's time. Here's how you can tell whether the bare looking spots are fungus or cutworm damage. If leaves disappear, you notice green runner branches crisscrossing each other, now and again you see holes you can partly push your lead pencil point into, that's usually cutworm infestation.

Spray with a stomach type spray. You'd be wise to use a turf fertilizer that contains an insecticide for soil pests control for dichondra, also same for control of lawn moth worms in a dichondra lawn too.

GRASS LAWNS usually year and a half or younger are much more likely to be lawn moth worm infested than are old grass lawns.

Extra hard lawn spots that look poorly yet get equal amount of water can easily be improved. A day or so after watering those spots extra well, jab spading fork to loosen the turf. Apply weed free treated steer manure or top cover one-eighth to one-fourth of an inch thick. Soft spray well to soak through the mulch. Keep areas moist for a week to ten days. You'll notice improvement there. Thereafter, lawn watering is sufficient.

THOSE SPURRLAWS BACK

Always leaving a trail of enthusiastic comments behind them, the famed group of young musicians known as the Spurrilaws return to Long Beach next week, putting on a 90-minute concert entitled "Singing a New Song" in two churches.

The singers and instrumentalists in the 1969 ensemble come from 20 states. After tryouts, those selected spend five weeks in intensive rehearsals in the style, blend and musical uniqueness that has become the Spurrilaw trademark, a style that utilizes the most popular of today's musical styles for the Christian message. They perform annually for 250,000 people, touring 75 cities in nine months.

They will appear Tuesday, 7:30 p.m. at First Baptist Church of Lakewood, 5336 Arbor Road, and will give an identical performance Wednesday, 7 p.m. at First Nazarene Church, 2280 Clark Ave.

Covenant to Host S.C. Synod

Long Beach's spacious Covenant Presbyterian Church at Third Street and Atlantic Avenue will host the semi-annual meeting of the United Presbyterian Church's Synod of Southern California on Sept. 23 and 24.

Some 600 delegates and observers from more than for what is expected to be an important planning and business session on the direction of the church's mission and activities.

The session will open with an address by Dr. John Coventry Smith, general secretary of the national Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations, and one of the six presidents of the World Council of Churches. Immediate past moderator of the national General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church, Dr. Smith is regarded as one of the ecumenical movement's leading spokesmen and statesmen.

Rating Elder George E. Mellon of First Church of Whittier, current Southland Synod moderator, will preside. Handling arrangements for the host church, says the pastor, Dr. Hugh David Burcham, are Elders Joseph Wilson and Tom Cull, and Business Administrator George McLean.

Graham Crusade Shaping Up as Blockbuster

Preparations go into high gear next week for what is expected to be one of Evangelist Billy Graham's greatest crusades, the 10-night Southern California meeting in Anaheim Stadium starting Friday, Sept. 26.

The 43,000-seat capacity of the Angel ballpark will be augmented through room for thousands more to stand or sit on the playing field, said Rev. Harry R. Williams, crusade director, who reports interest reaching a new high.

Southland crowds will be swelled by groups from other Western states. By plane, bus, and auto, some 500 delegations will converge on Orange County from Oregon, Nevada, Arizona and Utah.

Breakfast clubs, civic organizations, travel clubs, retired folks groups, youth clubs, veteran groups, women's clubs as well as hundreds of church delegations will be among those who will have special reserved seats.

"Special delegations, any group with 20 or more people traveling together to the Crusade, have always been an important aspect of Mr. Graham's audiences," said Rev. Williams, who is responsible for issuing 320,000 tickets.

He explained that while churches were encouraged to bring delegations composed of 50 per cent active members and the other half unaffiliated with a church, that thousands of seats for each service are not reserved.

"We will average 20,000 unreserved seats per night for individuals and smaller groups of people."

All seats in Anaheim Stadium are free for the Crusade. Reserved seats are held until 15 minutes prior to the service (7:30 p.m. weekdays and Saturdays, 3 p.m. Sundays) while unreserved sections will be open to the general public on a "first come, first seated" basis.

An expected 200 buses nightly will roll into the stadium lots for reserved parking, with 12,000 additional car parking spaces available at the home of the Angels.

Group reservation requests are coming in at an ever increasing rate said Williams. Pressure will increase as the opening draws nearer, but the staff is ready to fill all group delegation requests.

Black Evangelist's Challenge Cheered by Whites at Meet

An eloquent young black evangelist challenged white Christians to be ready to die for the cause of racial equality.

Rev. Tom Skinner of New York told 5,000 delegates to the U. S. Congress on Evangelism in Minneapolis that "the black revolution" obliges true believers to express their love toward each other even if it means ultimate sacrifice.

"The role of the church is to live oblivious to public opinion," he said.

Skinner chided Christians who deny black churchmen the opportunity to openly oppose racist elements in today's institutions. "You allow them to speak against Communism. You allow them to speak against miniskirts. You allow them to speak against sex. But you will not allow people to speak strongly against racism."

Congress delegates stood and applauded the 27-year-old evangelist for nearly a minute.

Skinner expressed the hope that "this Congress can give the momentum and direction for evangelism in this country." He urged a special demonstration of concern toward blacks. "There are 25,000,000 people out there waiting to see what we will do."

Following Skinner's address, approximately 1,000 persons remained in the Municipal Auditorium for a black caucus. He had urged concerned white delegates to attend.

Skinner traced the history of the oppression of blacks in America and noted that the present situation notwithstanding they had continued to stand for American ideals in war as well as peace.

"You must remember," he said, "that it is not the black soldier who is burning his draft card and running off to Canada" to escape the draft.

Delegates repeatedly stood and interrupted the 50-minute speech with applause. Skinner said the current revolution is one of identity, community, and power. He compared the present age with the time in which Jesus' disciples lived, when there was a confrontation of Jewish nationalist-radicals with the Roman establishment. The disciples, he declared, pointed to a better way, even though it meant alienation from both elements.

"The church must take a stand against racism," he added. "It must do so on the grounds that such principles are based on the kingdom of God. It must be willing to lose its shirt for such a stand." He said the church should produce

GOINGS ON

Services under the stars at El Dorado Park, the drive-in church at 3655 Norwalk Blvd., will feature the David Lloyd Singers in concert Sunday at 7:30 p.m. This popular group has appeared in Southern California churches of all denominations. . . . Rev. David T. Fisher, S.J., professor of theology at Loyola University and nationally known lecturer on theology and ecumenism, will launch a series on the church in the modern age Wednesday, 1:30 p.m. in St. Bartholomew Catholic Church, 5143 Livingston Drive. . . . A church-sponsored gospel concert Sunday 2:30 p.m. in Martin Luther King Park will include the Singing Tones from Shreveport, La., the Vocal Aires of Birmingham, Ala., the Voices of Holiness from Los Angeles, and "His Holiness," Prince Elias of Long Beach.

BEGIN MINISTRY

Mr. and Mrs. George H. McLain will begin their ministry Sunday at historic First Christian Church, Fifth Street and Locust Avenue. Mr. McLain, called as senior minister, comes from Spring Branch Christian Church in Houston, Tex. He is a native of Georgia and was educated at Southeastern Christian College, Transylvania College and National Bible College, with graduate work at Yale. Both he and Mrs. McLain studied music and voice at the University of Indiana. Former pastorates also include churches in Bedford, Ind., Des Moines, Iowa, Peoria, Ill., with an active civic role in each city. He replaces Mr. James McKown, who moved to Oxnard after four years. Mr. Loran Hancock, who served as interim pastor, will remain as assistant minister.

He Turned Korea Reds to Christian Ministry

During the Korean War U.S. Army chaplains, assisted by many Korean Christian clergy, ministered to the Communist prisoners of war. There was human help rendered as well as opportunity for Christian Bible study. The result was that thousands turned from Communism to Christianity. Several hundred became Christian ministers.

Dr. Harold Voelkel, recently retired as associate president and teacher from Soong Sil College in Korea, was one of those Army Chaplains. Now living in California, he has been telling Southland churches about it.

Sunday Dr. Voelkel will preach at the 10 a.m. service of Geneva Presbyterian Church, Third Street and Molino Avenue. Immediately following, the congregation will adjourn to Fellowship Hall where a pot luck dinner will be served.

Dr. Voelkel will then again speak and will show slides depicting conditions and events in the prisoner of war camps. Pictures of the camps are rare, and his collection is rated one of the best.

Dr. Voelkel began his missionary work with the United Presbyterian Church in Korea in 1929. He supervised many rural churches while assigned to Andong and taught in the Korean Bible Institutes. He also established a radio ministry in Korea, but when the war came along the challenge of aiding prisoners in the camps was accepted. He has written two books on Korea.

Visitors are invited to hear Dr. Voelkel and bring along their "covered dish" together with their own table service.

FROM THE PULPIT
Every Christian is instructed of God to be a Bible student. Many Christians never attend Sunday School. Many Sunday Schools are not real Bible teaching institutions. Even daily Bible reading may not be real Bible study.

At Calvary we make a real attempt to teach the Bible to those under our ministry may have the real exposure required to become serious students of the Word.

September 21st is "Round-up" day here. Why not make it a point to come to Sunday School that day. Try our 9:45 Bible School ONE time and see if it does not challenge you to be a Bible student. Come to Calvary! Calvary is for you!

Mets Fan Peale Roots for 'Giants'

By NORMAN VINCENT
PEALE

Imagine a Mets fan rooting hard for the Giants and you'll know what this writer was up to recently. Only it wasn't in New York or San Francisco that this baseball partiality was demonstrated. It was in Tokyo, Japan, at a hard-fought game between the Tokyo Giants and the Osaka Tigers.

Forty thousand fans packed the perfectly lighted Korakuen Stadium to witness a high-class brand of baseball at its classic best. Those two teams at the top of the league, the Giants being only three games ahead, in our opinion equate with most anything we have in American baseball.

I couldn't help thinking, as I watched the tight scientific game unfold, that there is just a bit of presumption in our "World Series" which actually is a national contest, when over on the other side of the world are teams that appear to be every bit as good as ours.

IN PITCHING, fielding, hitting, and in making one exciting play after another, as well as in managerial generalship, they really put up an athletic contest equal to anything I have seen in years of witnessing our national pastime.

And they have one feature that is so much fun that I can't for the life of me figure why some enterprising American club has not appropriated it. I was the guest at this game of our Ambassador to Japan, His Excellency Armin H. Meyer, and he got a big kick out of it as did 40,000 others also.

When a home run is hit -- and several were, including a big booming blast by Willie Kirkland, an American outfielder playing for Osaka -- a huge fountain under the score board at center field leaps into life, bells ring, and the crowd goes wild. Maybe it's a bit corny, but I noticed that kids all around as well as the Ambassador and his guests got the same thrill out of this riotous episode. And I went for it too. Indeed I found myself wishing for more circuit clouts to experience a replay of the fountain bit. The point is that everyone had a good time and isn't that why we go to a ball game?

After the game Mr. Taro Shoriki, president of the Tokyo Giants, put on a buffet for us in his offices, everything from beef to lobster. The foreign director, Mr. Ken Yamaguchi, is intrigued with the thought of a Japanese-American International World Series which he insists is easily possible by fast non-stop intercontinental air travel.

I told him that a lot of changes are now taking place in American baseball, and that maybe the time is at hand when Bill Shea or Water O'Malley or some other alert leader might give the game a shot in the arm by staging such a series. But if they do, let us fervently hope they will rig up a fountain for those home runs.

The crowd at a Japanese baseball game is orderly and friendly, a bit quieter I thought than its American counterpart. Certainly there is much less raucous direction of the game from the stands. And while players didn't exactly bow to the umpire, still they accepted even close decisions philosophically. No player was thrown out of the game. And Willie Kirkland, the American right fielder, after his smashing homer, clowned for the crowd by exaggerated bowing and they loved it and him.

My fellow fan at the game, Ambassador Meyer, is very popular with the Japanese. They crowded his pathway from the stadium to his car cheering in the friendliest manner possible. Graciously he moved among the crowd shaking hands with everyone.

THIS CAREER diplomat now serving in one of the most exacting posts in the world is a representative of whom our country can be proud. Experienced, down to earth, alert and knowledgeable, he will, I feel certain, cement new bonds of understanding and friendship between the Japanese and American people.

Ambassador Meyer is also something of a philoso-

SEX EDUCATION AUTHOR HERE

Rev. Francis Filas, S.J., professor of theology at Chicago's Loyola University and nationally noted expert on sex education, will speak Tuesday, 7:45 p.m. at Our Lady of Refuge school hall, 5195 Stearns St., on "Sex Education of Children for Parents." One of his 10 books has gone through 11 printings in paperback, and he has recorded five LP albums on sex education and the family. Tickets will be available at the door.

'Bird Nest' Fern Likes It Warm

For a dramatic single display plant, try the bright yellow-green Asplenium, or "bird's nest fern." Create the moisture and humidity this attractive plant likes by setting its clay pot in a saucer of water. It will do well in household temperatures between 65 and 80 degrees. Keep it at low light intensity all day long, away from direct sunlight.

opher. "Accentuate the positive," he says, "don't accept the negative."

It's not bad to take your baseball mixed with philosophy. Anyway, enjoy the fellowship of sports fans of whatever country and the world seems a pretty good place after all. Oh, yes, the Tokyo Giants lost 5 to 1 despite our rooting for them.

Unfair Evangelical Image, Billy on Pike, Spurrllows

By LES RODNEY

Evangelicals have a "bad odor" in many places, due more to poor public relations than to factual basis. So said Dr. Oswald C. J. Hoffmann, noted Missouri Synod Lutheran radio preacher, at the U.S. Congress on Evangelism this week in Minneapolis.

"We are not the self-righteous snobs that some people think we are," Hoffman said. "We don't want everyone to become like us. We want them to become like Him."

At the same Congress, evangelist Billy Graham surprised some scribes at a press conference by expressing his sorrow over the death in the Holy Land of former Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike. Not for Graham the oddly gleeful, un-Christian reactions of some.

Graham said that he disagreed with Pike "on just about everything," but that they were friends. He added that the controversial bishop misled some people on the new morality, but that in theology, "he did no harm to the church."

Pike, he said, had the effect of "making people search their own hearts as to what they believe."

Asked by reporters about much negative reaction to his appearance on the Rowan and Martin Laugh-In television show, Graham said he would do it again, that his main concern was that "it has interested people in Christianity who shun my crusades."

is just two weeks from yesterday. All reports tell of tremendous interest throughout this area, with some Long Beach churches arranging bus transportation nightly. One man with a massive task is Rev. Paul C. Johnson, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church of Orange, chairman of the Pre-Crusade Visitation Program. What he is working on right now is the recruiting of 175,000 people to walk door-to-door on Sunday, Sept. 21, handing out informational material about the crusade. He thinks he has a good shot at it. Yes, we did say 175,000, not 17,500, or 1,750.

United Methodist Church on Third and Junipero - An article on the many unpublished works of the National Council of Churches in mission, Christian education and youth work, vacation church schools, child care, recreational pastoring, etc., also addressing itself to fears of some based on misunderstanding of the Council's function that it might lead to some kind of "superevangelical."

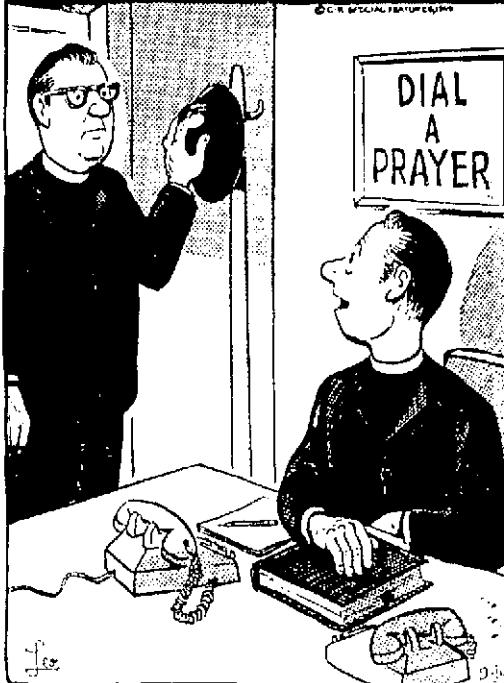

And - a feature asking prayers for and attendance at the Billy Graham Crusade, with a description of Graham's "Operation Andrew," a practical evangelistic outreach for the individual.

RECOMMENDED, especially if you've never seen them. That amazing group of crack musicians known as The Spurrllows, who put on a show like no other. They'll be at First Baptist of Lakewood Tuesday evening, and at First Nazarene Church Wednesday evening. Bring your youngsters - of all ages. (Rated "G.")

A PHRASE that catches the eye in the six-point program for peace suggested by the Department of International Affairs of the U.S. Catholic Conference is "This is a conflict not so much of right and wrong as of right and right."

Meaning mainly, the right of Israel to exist and to defend itself from those who proclaim its destruction, and the rights of the Arabs to more justice than they have received in the creation of Israel, especially the uprooted Palestinian refugees.

CHURCH HUMOR

"It's been a discouraging day. Just one wrong number and two obscene calls."

Black Evangelist

"relationships thicker than brother and sister. That fellowship in the Christian church should supersede every other type of relationship."

"Jesus was a radical. He is revolutionary. He gives men identity by making them Sons of God."

He provided community by healing the relationships of man. He provides dwelling power by dwelling men with his own life."

Skinner said that denial of biblical truths is a "blow" that blacks can never recover from.

THE MOST IMPORTANT
CAN MAKE

Children are natural "discoverers." They love to learn about, and to use new ideas. They like to solve problems. They want action.
This is why children love Christian Science. It involves action. It also involves discovery, the most important discovery of all: the nature of God and man's relationship to Him.
In our Sunday School children learn how to search for Truth, and to find it; how to act on these discoveries, and to prove their worth.
Your child will enjoy being with the "discoverers" in our Sunday School classes. They are welcome, any time.

'The Deadly Game' Superbly Staged

By RALPH HINMAN JR.
Drama Critic

If you plan to see but a single play this fall, by all means make it Hampton Playhouse's current, superb mounting of "The Deadly Game."

A dogmatic view this, but one doubly warranted by the tight, polished craftsmanship inherent in the vehicle and displayed by director Milt Rogart's fine production company.

One of the great strengths of the drama-tized Friedrich Durren-mat as a sophisticated thriller of a type Hitchcock could have done in his earlier days. What is this game four old men, retired officers of the court, play in an isolated Alpine chalet while a Swiss blizzard rages out-of-doors?

Tension, apprehension does begin.

Questions of a more cerebral type can emerge on another level: the nature of good and evil, of man's capacity for either. Very relevant to modern man.

RETRYING classic court cases — "Last week we decided Julius Caesar was murdered by a jealous wife, not his political enemies" — is the first name of the game.

Such is Howard Trapp, seemingly an innocuous American traveling salesman, who finds refuge from the storm on a game night.

The prosecutor — Paul Teschke — bores in, seeking to unearth a crime, any crime, committed by Trapp. Bob Connor. Amiable, likable Trapp's personality progressively disintegrates in this classic duel, until?

WHILE the play stands or falls on the duo's skills — which are great — the work would be lessened without first-rate support ungrudgingly offered by everyone else.

"THE DEADLY GAME" Dramatized from Friedrich Durrenmat's novel by James Valle Directed by Milt Rogart Designed by Glen Roney

Cast: Emilie Carpeau, Jari Victor, Ronald L. Brown, Dave Collins, Joseph Pilet, Kip June, Nicole, Beth Scott, Howard Trapp, Bob Connor, Gustave Kunimer, Paul Teschke, Pierre, Cloude Sharp, Mrs. Helen Trapp, Pat Rogart

Friday-Saturday performances, 8:30 p.m., through Oct. 4, Carson Street at Madison Avenue, Torrance.

JACK HALEY, FAMOUS TIN MAN, IS BACK ON SET AFTER 25 YEARS He Is Shown Here Judy Garland and Ray Bolger in Scene From "Wizard of Oz"

FOR 'HAWAII FIVE-O'

Success Came, But Late

By BOB THOMAS

HONOLULU (AP) — "I've been prospecting a long time, and finally I've hit pay dirt." This was a different, more confident Jack Lord, enjoying the euphoria of a success.

Last summer the actor seemed uplifted. He was working at a furious pace on a new television series, "Hawaii Five-O," and the tension was apparent. CBS' most expensive show — a quarter-million dollars per segment — was resting on his broad shoulders.

THE SITUATION worsened when the series failed to generate a respectable rating in the Thursday-at-8 time slot. No wonder Lord said, "We had the 'great' lead-in of 'Blondie,' and we were pre-empted four times in the first nine weeks."

"Hawaii Five-O" plummeted to 65th place in the ratings out of 78 shows, and TV insiders had written off as another costly flop.

"Then on Christmas night Mike Dann, CBS program boss, gave us the best present we could possibly have received," recalled Lord. "He switched the time period to Wednesday at 10. On that night we were 45th out of 78 shows, and we've been constantly building so that the last rating had us No. 9."

WHY DID the later time slot make such a difference? Apparently because the series appealed to a more mature audience. Also, the later hour permitted "Hawaii Five-O" to deal more frankly with matters that wouldn't have been deemed suitable for young viewers.

Now the show is sold out for sponsorship through the 1969-70 season. Said Lord: "If we can make it through two seasons, we ought to be able to last for five. That would suit me fine. I would rather do good TV than bad movies. And considering the stuff that is coming out of Hollywood and Europe these days, I'm glad I'm not doing movies.

I'M NO PRUDE, but if you've got to include lascivious and erotic material in films to succeed nowadays, then I'd rather not be in films."

Lord may be the hardest working actor in television. He's up at 4 a.m. to study his lines, then he jogs a mile along the Kalahele beach in front of his condominium apartment. reports to the set at 6:30 a.m. He works a minimum 12-hour day six days a week and one week clocked 14 hours.

Haley Sr. Back on Set — With Son as Boss

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Jack Haley, the wonderful tin man in "The Wizard of Oz," reported for his first movie job in 25 years and was confronted by a director whose diapers he had changed 30 years ago.

Jack Haley Jr. was running the show.

"Dad is happier with me working behind the camera than in front of them," Junior reported the other day.

"I CAST HIM in the role of a character who rarely speaks, but he's in three sequences. The one line he had was written: 'I'd like to show you my 80 paper shell pecan trees.'"

"But he didn't think the line was funny and changed it right on the set to: 'I'd like to show you my Poland China brood sows.'"

Haley the younger grinned. He said it was the first day of shooting and he didn't have time to savor properly the unusual situation of father directing son in a major feature film.

everyone he was known as one-lake Haley in the old days. After the second take he said it was a waste of time because I'd be using the first one anyhow.

"Dad was right, that's the one we used."

JACK JR. only faintly resembles his father. He tried acting more than a dozen years ago and failed to ignite the celluloid. Thereafter he made several successful television documentaries and musical specials for the tube which harvested critical praise.

This is his first movie. Entitled "Norwood," the comedy stars Glen Campbell, Kim Darby, Tisha Sterling, Carol Lynley, Meredith Macrae and Edward G. Robinson Jr. Clearly nostalgia has overtaken Jack Haley Jr. Tisha Sterling is the daughter of Ann Sothern, Meredith Macrae's father is singer Gordon, young Robinson is the sprout of the famed "Little Caesar."

ey Sr. had completed his minor role in the film at Paramount, he would pop up unannounced and hang around the set watching the action.

At first Haley Jr. was baffled by his father's surprise visits.

"Then I decided he came around to watch as if he couldn't believe I'm in charge of all these people," Jack Jr. said. "All he could remember was that as a kid he could never get me out of bed in the morning!"

Jack Jr. got the message one day when he heard his father mutter, "Good Lord! They can't be trusting all this to my son."

BIT PARTS: Veronica Lake and Ty Hardin will co-star in "A Streetcar Named Desire" in a London theater this month... Dean Martin earned his 12th gold record for his re-release album "Gentle on My Mind"... Tim Conway will become a regular on the Carol Burnett television series this season.

UCLA, Oregon St. Launch Race to Rose Bowl

by DAVE LEWIS
Staff Writer

The annual race for the Rose Bowl begins tonight when UCLA's Bruins, intent on bouncing back from their frustrating 1968 campaign, host the dangerous Oregon State Beavers at the Coliseum before a crowd of some 50,000 fans. Kickoff is at 8 p.m.

Officials of the two schools can't remember having a more important conference game than the one tonight.

Coach Tommy Prothro is a little gun shy about making predictions after last year's disappointing 3-7 season, when UCLA opened the season as one of the nation's Top 10 teams.

Few teams have been as "snakebitten" as the injury-riddled Bruins of '68. Prothro does admit that "our team should be quite a bit better this year. If I didn't remember what happened last season, I would be quite confident now."

The odds makers agree that the Bruins should have a strong contender this year. They list UCLA a six-point favorite over the Beavers.

Oregon State, runner-up for the conference title the last three years, is rated about in the middle of the rough Pacific-8 race, in which contention runs extremely deep this season.

Graduation losses were expected to reduce the Beavers to a shell of their fine teams in 1966-67-68, especially since the entire starting offensive team departed with the exception of Billy Main, one of the nation's better running backs.

Heavy redshirting at Corvallis has produced excellent replacements to go along with a veteran defensive club rated one of the toughest units in college ball. The defense is headed by Bill Nelson, 6-7, 265-pound guard, and Jess Lewis, 220-pound regular tackle in 1967, who skipped last season earning a spot on the U.S. Olympic wrestling team.

Oregon State has a team which should improve considerably as its offensive unit gains experience.

One of UCLA's major problems of a year ago seems to have been solved by quarterback Dennis Dummit, the former Wilson High and Long Beach City College star.

The Bruins foundered in '68 when Bill Bolden was injured in the first game and was of little use the rest of the season. Jim Nader, who had to step into the starting role, wasn't equipped for the system Prothro was using, which required the quarterback to run a great deal as well as pass off the option.

Prothro is not taking any chances along this line. He again will use a wide-open T-formation, but also will employ the new "triple option" several times a game to take advantage of such brilliant runners as Greg Jones and Mickey Cureton. Mickey has been shifted to fullback to develop a breakaway threat at that spot.

Defensively, the Bruins figure to be formidable as usual with such all-American candidates as Mike (Cat) Ballou, 230-pound linebacker, and 222-pound tackle Floyd Reese.

Zenon Andrusyshyn is back to handle the punting and placekicking chores and has indicated in practice that he may have as big a year as he did in 1967 as a sophomore.

The game has been designated as UCLA's "Centennial Game," a salute to 100 years of collegiate football. Halftime feature will be a special ceremony honoring 11 members of

O.J. BECOMES ANNOUNCER, JOINING ABC

NEW YORK (AP) — O.J. Simpson has signed a long-term contract with the American Broadcasting Company Sports, Inc.

Simpson, the former Southern California all-American now playing with the American Football League Buffalo Bills, will become a television and radio personality. The contract is effective with the end of the football season.

Simpson's work with ABC will not interfere with his professional football career, Arledge said.

$100,000 LAKER PACT FOR BAYLOR

Elgin Baylor, the rugged Laker forward, signed a two-year contract Friday with the National Basketball Assn. club, ending speculation he might jump to a rival league.

The 35-year-old, in his 12th season, is believed to have received $100,000.

Less than three months ago he was reportedly listening to coaching and playing offers from teams in the rival American Basketball Assn.

"I know he will never wear any uniform but the Lakers," said club owner Jack Kent Cooke. "Elgin has always been a Laker, and as far as I'm concerned always will be."

"Let's just say I'm more than satisfied with the contract and so are the Lakers," said Baylor.

Bill Singer peeled off his socks and revealed a nasty welt on his right leg.

"Geez, it hurts," grumbled Singer even though he'd just registered his 19th victory, a 5-3 nod over San Diego Friday night at Dodger Stadium. "Before the game I was worried about my elbow but I forgot about that in a hurry."

In a courageous performance, Singer came within one out of a complete game even though he was working in constant pain after the first inning.

A first inning line drive by Ollie Brown nailed Singer on the right ankle. "He got all of it and so did I," Bill said as ice was packed not only on his arm, which is normal treatment, but his leg as well.

He looked like an ad for a freezer.

He adjusted the bag of ice, managed a smile, then said:

"My delivery wasn't natural at all. Tom Haller just told me to work low and away to everyone and we got away with it pretty well. I guess I must have looked like Jim Bunning the way I was falling away and favoring the right leg."

While the ankle was swollen and Singer was in pain, trainer Bill Buhler couldn't say just how serious the injury might be or if it would hamper his next turn. He ordered X-rays taken immediately.

Singer, who's elbow was giving him trouble after his shutout victory in Atlanta, is one of the keys to the Dodgers' flag hopes and his loss would be a crusher.

Friday's victory kept the Dodgers 1½ games off the lead in the National League's sizzling five-pack known as the Wild West. Atlanta stepped into the hot seat, the 12th time since the All-Star game the lead has switched hands.

While Singer, wounded leg and all, managed to subdue the charged-up Padres who had clipped the Dodgers four times in a row last week in San Diego, it was the crisp bat of Maury Wills that generated the offense.

Little Maury's batting string now a dozen games in a row, singled three times, his third single breaking up a 3-all deadlock in the eighth inning.

"That Wills has really been the key man in this whole thing," praised manager Walter Alston. "The team is down because of the batting slump but Maury is playing better shortstop than I've ever seen him play."

"And Singer . . . he battled it pretty hard.

That was quite a performance.

He didn't even sit down between innings for fear of the thing swelling

up. He tried ice once but then he couldn't walk."

Singer was trailing in the game as the Padres scored twice in the second but the Dodgers tied it when Willie Crawford's single scored Willie Davis in the fourth and Willie D. singled home Wills in the fifth.

But Nate Colbert quickly put the Padres on top with his 21st home run in the top of the sixth.

The Dodgers again got even when Bill Sudakis tripped with one out in the sixth, chasing San Diego starter Al Santorini. Gary Ross, who whipped the Dodgers last week with 6 1-3 innings of scoreless relief, took over but a walk and Ted Sizemore's single scored Suds.

That's where it stayed

Air Force's Anti-Missile Defense Ready for Hixson

Combined News Services

The Air Force Academy will help launch the first major weekend of college football's centennial season tonight with a chance to test its anti-missile program against Southern Methodist's Chuck Hixson at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas.

The battle plan for the Air Force is simply stop the throwing of Hixson, who as a sophomore last year led the nation in passing. With SMU's running game regarded as weak, Hixson figures to come out throwing even more this season.

The Falcons and Mustangs tangle in the top attraction on a meager schedule opening the 1969 season. The game will be nationally televised.

Other big games on the light first weekend send Oregon State against UCLA in a night game at the Coliseum; Pacific at Texas, El Paso, at night; Wake Forest at North Carolina State (night); Louisville at Drake in a Missouri Valley Conference game; Utah State at Wichita State; Xavier at Miami of Ohio; and Cincinnati at West Virginia.

The return of Hixson, is the key factor in SMU's 7-point favorite's tag. Last year, Hixson threw 468 times and completed 265 for 3,103 yards and 21 touchdowns.

His favorite target, flanker Jerry Levias (80) receptions for 1,131 yards and eight touchdowns) and his favorite runner, Mike Richardson (207 times for 1,034 yards and 11 touchdowns) are gone.

Coach Hayden Fry feels that in sophomore Gary Hammond, a converted quarterback, veterans Ken Fleming and Sam Holden, he can pick up the slack left by Levias' departure, and in tailback Bicky Lesser he can partially offset Richardson's loss on the ground.

Otherwise, the Mustangs are loaded with seasoned hands.

So are the invading Falcons, who have 30 lettermen back from a team that shattered Colorado 58-35 in a windup game last year.

McCullouch Catches Spearhead Lion Win

DETROIT (AP) — Quarterbacks Bill Munson and Greg Landry riddled the New Orleans pass defense, connecting for three touchdown tosses, as the Detroit Lions won their fifth successive National Football League exhibition game in six starts, 42-7, Friday night. Earl McCullouch of Long Beach was the receiving star.

The Lions shocked the Saints by taking a 21-0 lead in the first quarter. Munson, looking the sharpest this year, fired touchdown passes of 49 and 71 yards to Bill Mainchak and McCullouch.

The first score came with only three minutes gone and followed a fumble recovery by Detroit linebacker Wayne Walker. With New Orleans still dazed, Lions safety Tommy Vaughn picked off a pass from Saints' quarterback Archie Manning. The Lions then took a 14-0 lead when McCullouch caught a 71-yard touchdown pass from Munson.

Five minutes later, the Lions put things out of reach when rookie Larry Watkins bucked over from Detroit's defense played a strong game and stopped both New Orleans passing and running game. But Kilmer put the Saints momentarily back in the game with a 14-yard touchdown pass to Al Dodd.

Five minutes later, the Lions put things out of reach when rookie Larry Watkins bucked over from

Johnson, Hart Puncture Bear Air Defense, 37-31

CHICAGO (UPI) — Charlie Johnson and Jim Hart picked the Chicago pass defense apart in the second half Friday night and then held off a last minute Bear rally to squeeze out a 37-31 National Football League exhibition victory for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Johnson threw three touchdown passes and legged one in himself, but the ice was administered by Hart, who has been spelling Johnson while he was in the service and who came on in the fourth quarter.

Hart had plenty of time to spot Jackie Smith breaking from behind Lee Calland and hit him for a 55-yard touchdown pass.

The Bears almost pulled it out in the closing minutes when Roy Shivers fumbled and Ed O'Bradovich recovered on the Cardinal 35. Bear quarterback Jack Concannon, having his finest day of the pre season tour, worked the half by passing and scrambling to the Cardinal five with 40 seconds left, fourth down and a yard to go.

Brian Piccolo then tried to run over left guard, got nowhere, and the game was over.

Smith was the Cardinals' major offensive weapon, along with quarterbacks Hart and Johnson. He also contributed to the scoring with a 23-yard pass touchdown pass from Johnson in the first half.

Johnson also passed 17 and 25 yards to Dave Williams for touchdowns, and bucked over from a yard out for another tally.

The Bears could take heart in Gale Sayers' best showing of the exhibition season, although he sat out most of the second half. His 70-yard run over tackle in the first quarter led to Mac Percival's 26-yard field goal, and a 39-yard kickoff return was the set-up for a Concannon to Piccolo four-yard touchdown pass.

St. Louis Cardinals 37, Chicago Bears 31. Chi—FC Percival 26. St.—Williams 17 pass from Johnson (Bakken kick). Chi—FC Bakken 12. St.—Piccolo 4 pass from Concannon (Percival kick). St.—Smith 25 pass from Johnson (Bakken kick). Chi—Hull 1 run (Percival kick). St.—Johnson 1 run (Bakken kick). St.—Williams 25 pass from Johnson (Bakken kick). Troy Loses QB Holmgren Indefinitely With Injury

USC quarterback Mike Holmgren sustained a separation of a left shoulder Friday and will be sidelined for an indefinite period.

Holmgren, a senior from South San Francisco, was the only experienced quarterback for the Trojans, who open their season next week against Nebraska.

In Friday's next-to-last scrimmage before the opener, sophomore quarterback Jimmy Jones completed 9 of 14 passes for 192 yards. Charlie Evans led the runnings with 29 yards in six carries.

Top receivers were Gary Orentt with two catches for 68 yards and Bob Chandler with two for 34.

'Booster' Scrimmage for Vikings

An intra-squad scrimmage is scheduled for Long Beach City College football players today — the final drill before school opens Monday.

The Viking Booster Club will whip up and serve the team the Captain's Brunch at 11 a.m., according to Mike Spagnolo, president of the fan club.

Team captains will be announced at the get-together in the school cafeteria. The affair traditionally takes place before the final scrimmage of the pre-season.

Following the brunch, the players will adjourn to the practice field to chat with Booster members and the public. The scrimmage, featuring mostly freshmen, will follow at 3:30 p.m.

The Boosters will meet on Tuesday night in the men's gym instead of the regular Wednesday night meeting.

"We changed because of the Milk Bowl," Spagnolo said. "This is the meeting where season tickets will be sold, and we hope everyone attends."

The Vikings open the season next Saturday night at Harbor College.

XKE sedan

An XKE large enough to take on the whole family?

That's about the size of it

The Jaguar XKE 2+2 Family Coupe is longer and roomier than our 2-place coupe. Even has a rear seat for the kids.

Despite its larger size, the 2+2 is an XKE all the way.

Idea Car Engineering

The 2+2 has 15 standard engineering features Detroit is considering for its cars of the future.

To mention six: twin overhead camshaft engine, unique 4-wheel independent suspension, 4-wheel aircraft type disc brakes, electric fuel pump, twin electric cooling fans, and full instrumentation.

For the other nine features, see your Jaguar dealer.

Fastidious Appointments

Every XKE is outfitted in the same manner as you'd expect on cars costing twice the price. Examples: All leather is hand-selected, finest quality hide—identical to that used on cars costing well over $10,000. The instrument panel has 7 accurately-calibrated dials and 10 positive aircraft-style rocker switches.

Rigorous Testing

Few cars, at any price, are tested as thoroughly as the Jaguar XKE. For example, every XKE is road-tested by two separate inspectors. And until both agree the car is right for you, it doesn't leave our factory in Coventry, England.

Automatic Transmission

The 2+2 is the only XKE now available with optional automatic transmission.

Quite a shift. Most people can accelerate the 2+2 with automatic faster than the 2+2 with standard 4-speed stick shift.

Jaguar Prices

XK-E Roadster $5584.
XK-E Coupe $5775.
XK-E 2+2 Coupe $5950.
XK-E 2+2 Coupe (Automatic) $6195.
Price P.O.T. West Coast. Not including inland freight, dealer preparation, state & local taxes, white wall tires & chrome wire wheels optional extra.

For more information about the XKE 2+2, see your local Jaguar dealer. And let the family in on it.

META VANDERWERF
Anchors L.B. Comets

Day-Long Parade for Cross Country

Cross country performers are in for a day-long parade of activities today beginning with Cal State Long Beach unveiling its new course at 9 a.m.

Following a clinic, coaches and competitors will be introduced to the two-mile high school, four-mile junior college and five-mile college runs. Teams will be permitted to work out at 10, with John Mason, AAU mile champion, lecturing at 11.

The Long Beach Comets will host their fourth Beach Run Invitational this afternoon, an open-high school race scheduled for 4:30 with the women's races going off at 5.

Meta Vanderwerf, a 16-year-old Poly High junior, will lead a strong Comet contingent. Meta only started running in April, but was rated among the top 20 in the nation with her 2:21.2 half-mile.

The Pacific Coast Club will honor cross country teams from State and City Colleges and the Long Beach high schools with its kickoff dinner at 6 p.m. at Los Altos United Church (5550 Atherton). Admission is $1.

Among award presentations will be trophies to sprinter Steve Gibson of Lakewood High and high jumper Steve Lange from East L.A. College, judged the outstanding track and field performers during the summer all-comer season.

Cubs Not Down Says Durocher

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "Nobody has given up. Nobody is pushing the panic button."

That was manager Leo Durocher of the reeling Chicago Cubs talking to Rick Talley of the Chicago Today newspaper before the Cubs absorbed their eighth consecutive loss at Philadelphia Thursday.

Durocher, in a hotel room interview with Talley, praised his slumping Cubs and disclosed the club made recent, but futile attempts to acquire Al Ferrara from San Diego and Tommy Davis from Seattle for an outfield boost.

The Cubs, Leo said, have been playing their hearts out.

About the New York Mets, who hold a two-game east division lead as the Cubs began a three-game set against the Cardinals Friday night, Leo told Talley: "Somebody said they drank champagne in their locker room the other night. That party could have been a little premature."

"Sure the Mets are hot. But we can get hot, too. This club is not down. I'm highly elated about that. We haven't thrown in the towel yet."

Durocher said the Cubs were in "a composite slump — everything has fallen apart, hitting, pitching and defense. That makes it a tough climb. But there are two sides to a coin and it can flip very quickly."

"We're too good for this kind of slump."

Durocher said three weeks ago the Cubs contacted Buzzie Bavasi, San Diego general manager, and tried to trade for Ferrara. "He asked to sleep on the deal," said Leo. "The next morning he called and said the deal wasn't quite what he wanted."

Carlos Runs Windy 9.9 at Lake Tahoe

Combined News Services

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE — John Carlos of San Jose State ran a world record-equalling 9.9 in the 100-meter dash in Friday's South Lake Tahoe Indian Summer Games, but the time will not be submitted for recognition because of a 7.1-mile-an-hour trailing wind.

Carlos, Olympic bronze medalist in the 200 meters, edged Southern Illinois' Ivory Crockett, the only sprinter to beat him this year. He later won the 200 in 20.0.

The meet also was highlighted by the running of Kenya's Kipchoge Keino and Carlos' San Jose teammate, Lee Evans.

Keino ran away from the field in the 1,500 meter event, winning in 3:37.3, third fastest time ever recorded at high altitude.

The time is equivalent of a 3:54.3 mile and has been bettered only by Keino's own winning performance in the Mexico Olympics and by Jim Ryan.

Keino's clocking was the second fastest this year, topped only by a tenth-of-a-second by Martin Liguori who was running at sea level in the Europe-America meet in Stuttgart, Germany.

Evans also narrowly missed a world record as he ran the 440 in 44.9, two-tenths off the pending world mark set by Curtis Mills of Texas A&M this year.

In the field events, winner Bob Seagren and Dick Railsback cleared 17-3/4 in the pole vault. It was the first time in history that two men cleared the bar at that height in the same meet.

Other results:

5000 — Tracy Smith 14:23.0, 400 meter hurdles — Roy Whitner 51.9, Discus — Bill Neville 190.7, Hammer — George Frenn 227.1, High Jump — Bill Crowley 6-10, Shotput — Neil Steinhauser 44.7, Long Jump — Henry Hines 24-1/2, Triple Jump — Norm Tate 51.5, Javelin — Frank Covell 224.1, 100 meter hurdles — Chris Power 13.3, 300 — Neillette Bon (Kenya) 1:46.0.

Kings' Barefoot Boy Gets Cold Reception

BARRIE, Ont. (AP) — Controversial right wing Eddie Shack arrived a day late at the Kings' hockey training camp Friday and got a reception colder than the ice in Barrie Arena from new coach Hal Laycoe.

"Get out of here, I'm not running a circus," shouted Laycoe when he first spotted the 32-year-old Shack. "Come back later and skate with the rookies."

Shack, acquired by the Kings in a National Hockey League trade last May with the Boston Bruins, sat an hour and returned to skate — with the rookies.

The veteran, a former Toronto star, had flown from there via helicopter and checked in — barefoot — at the Kings' hotel before resuming his helicopter trip to the arena.

Shack professed to be baffled by the coach's reception. "He tells me to get to camp and then he chases me off the ice," he said.

Shack has yet to sign a contract with the Kings, which led to another Shackism. Referring to the team's owner, Jack Kent Cooke, Eddie observed, "Mr. Cooke has lots of money and I know he'd like a young man like me to get some of it."

LAKERS HOLD BASKETBALL CLINIC TODAY

Jerry West headlines a baseball clinic put on by the Lakers today at the Sears Store, 450 Long Beach Blvd., starting at 9:30 a.m.

There is no admission charge.

Mel Counts and rookies Willie McCarter, Rick Roberson and Dick Garrett join West for the demonstrations of basketball skills.

Coach Joe Mullaney and general manager Fred Schaus will conduct a question-and-answer period following the one-hour clinic.

Arnie Still Sore, but Shoots 68

CHICAGO (AP) — Arnold Palmer fired a practice round of 68 Thursday and said his ailing right hip was a little sore, "but I'm optimistic, very optimistic."

Palmer's informal appearance at Barrington Hills Country Club was monitored by golf writer Tommy Kouzmanoff of Chicago Today who quoted Palmer as saying:

"This round was an experiment for me. I wanted to see how the hip would react if I teed off and swung hard."

Arnie's drives on long holes, Kouzmanoff wrote, averaged 280 yards.

"I have played very little, no tournaments at all since shooting that 82 in the PGA tournament."

"Sure, I've hit a few shots, but I haven't swung like I did today. Treatments. You name them and I've had them. Heat, deep heat, ultrasonic, hot towels therapy, cortisone shots in the area of the right pelvis bone."

Golf's all-time money-winning champion, who turned 40 on Wednesday, said he may resume tourney play in the Sahara at Las Vegas next month.

Arnie had a little army of 43 surprised club members for his round of 36-32, three under par, which he closed out with three successive birdies.

TELE-VUES The Big Surf Comes to TV

By GEORGE ERES
TV-Radio Editor

Some TV watchers I know consider one of the few excuses for the existence of television is the medium occasionally airs films on surfing.

There will be such a film on Ch. 7 at 9 p.m., Sunday — Bruce Brown's 1966 surfing epic, "The Endless Summer."

Brown is the son of Long Beach's Dana Brown, who friends tell me always wanted his son to go on to college and be a professional man after he graduated from Wilson in 1955. But today he couldn't be prouder of his son who is pretty generally regarded as No. 1 in his field.

BRUCE BROWN

THE SURFING to be shown is one of those phenomena that makes the movie industry sit up and take notice. Not particularly for the artistic success it has achieved but because it was made at a cost of $50,000 and has grossed some $6 million in theaters around the world.

This financial success has not changed Bruce, according to a friend, who reports "he still has just one plain grey flannel suit, but I don't know how many surfing trunks."

The film is an account of two surfers, Mike Hynson, 21, and Robert August, 18, who travel around the world "in search of the perfect wave." They find it in the waters of South Africa, off a craggy point at Cape St. Francis. The area had never been surfed before.

BROWN, who lives in Dana Point, says the technique of surfing has changed since the film was made, but the "heart of the movie is as true today as it ever was."

Movie Makers Keep Film Ban on Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — United States motion picture companies intend to maintain their cutoff of new releases to Argentina until the government clarifies its tax policies on movies, film industry sources have said.

A member of the film board, representing American interests, said present regulations on film imports are "unfavorable" for making profits.

U.S. and most large foreign film companies stopped sending new releases to Argentina in mid-June because of import regulations requiring a customs duty of 30 percent to be paid on estimated earnings of a film. Previously, the import tax was based only on the value of the physical product on the film, a nominal sum.

The tariff, combined with other taxes, upped the total levy on foreign films to 53 percent of earnings.

The head of the National Film Institute, Col. Stolo Roldrejo, said there are still 180 new releases in Argentina that can be shown.

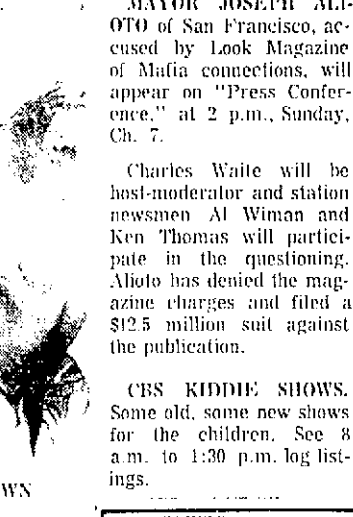

just ahead of the white water."

Personally, you'd never get me on one of those boards, even with the size of the surf you get inside the breakwater, but I'm an appreciator and enjoy watching surfing film.

Leave It To Larry
By LARRY (WHEELS) MEDER
HARBOR CHEVROLET

Most people have heard of the little boy who found a quarter on the sidewalk, and marveling at his good fortune, from that day on pursued a policy of sidewalk searching.

For the remainder of his life he kept his eyes glued to the cement — finding many lost wallets filled with money, etc., etc.

In so doing, however, he missed the arrival of the first robin in spring, the sun peeking through a "chink in the armor" of the clouds overhead, the chameleon-like turning of summer's glorious hues into splendor of autumn.

Even though he got into business and became extremely wealthy, his high respect for a dollar never left him. In fact, the last time there was an eclipse of the sun — he rushed into the nearest telephone booth, called Miami, Florida, long distance — and demanded night rates!!

Folks — Harbor Chevrolet is selling new cars at "night rates" right now! GA 6-3341, 3770 Cherry. Dial "M" for Meder!

Dumke Backs Simonsen for CSLB President

DR. DONALD SIMONSEN
'Acting' Acting Prexy

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

State College Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke will formally recommend Dr. Donald Simonsen be appointed acting president of California State College at Long Beach when the system's Board of Trustees meets Sept. 23.

Dr. Simonsen, academic vice president of CSLB, was recommended for the post earlier by the college's Presidential Selection Committee.

"I am planning to present the trustees with the recommendation that Dr. Simonsen be named as acting president," Chancellor Dumke said Friday in answer to questions from the Independent Press-Telegram.

"The trustees will consider this recommendation and the decision will be theirs."

Campus sources said, in effect, Dr. Simonsen has already assumed many acting presidential duties since Sept. 1.

President Carl W. McIntosh resigned Feb. 11 and requested reassignment within the state college system by Sept. 1, but the reassignment has not been made.

Dr. Simonsen and other college administrators Friday deferred comment on the college presidency to the chancellor's office.

"But I have indicated to the campus Presidential Selection Committee that I'd be willing to serve as acting president for one year," Dr. Simonsen said.

"I've also told them I'm not interested in the permanent presidency of Cal-State Long Beach."

Simonsen said regardless who is appointed acting president, the appointee will probably serve the entire academic year.

"It's difficult to find someone to take the permanent presidency in mid-year," he said.

Dr. Simonsen said he believed Dr. McIntosh would remain on campus for about two months to aid in administrative transitions.

INDEPENDENT PRESS-TELEGRAM

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1969 SECTION C—PAGE C-1

The 40-year-old Simonsen served as chairman of the departments of physical sciences, mathematics and chemistry, as well as associate dean of instruction, before assuming the academic vice presidency two years ago.

Campus sources theorized Chancellor Dumke refrained from directly appointing Simonsen for two reasons:

— He hopes to avoid increased friction between himself and the trustees.

— He's concerned because there are three other unfilled college presidencies — and acting presidents — in the state college system.

There is "a very high probability" the trustees would appoint Simonsen.

Many student and faculty leaders — and administrators — concurred that for all practical purposes they already considered Dr. Simonsen acting president, one campus observer said.

"The appointment is sort of being made by osmosis," he added.

CSLB's top administrators agreed delaying the ap-

Carnegie Will Bus Pupils to Carson Park

By BOB ANDREW
Staff Writer

The Carson school crisis brought on by the recent heavy equipment operators strike was eased Friday through an agreement between Carnegie Junior High officials and city administrators.

More than 3,000 students still face double-day sessions for six weeks, but Carnegie students will be bused to Carson Park for recreational activities following morning classes.

When Carnegie students are dismissed at 12:50 p.m., they'll travel to the park for swimming and other activities, Principal Henry Adams said.

However, students will have to walk the quarter-mile back to school at 3 p.m. to bus home.

The crisis developed when Carson's Curtiss Junior High was not completed in time for the opening of classes Monday due to the construction strike.

Swappers Hop At Flea Market And Family Fiesta

DEER HEADS, DOORMATS St. Anthony's School Plans Fiesta, Swap Meet Sunday

Deer heads, doormats and fine china dishes will be for sale or swap Sunday during the third monthly Flea Market and Family Fiesta at Del Amo Boulevard and Clark Avenue.

The flea market, sponsored by St. Anthony's Roman Catholic High School, is more a community marketplace than a swap meet, the operators say.

"We're modeling it after Parisian street markets," director Jerry Thys explained.

Individuals or organizations who wish to sell merchandise can purchase selling space from the Flea Market. That money goes to aid the high school, Thys added.

Sellers keep all profits from sold or traded goods.

"You'll find anything you'd see in a regular garage sale," according to Thys. "Several church groups are going to have their regular rummage sales there.

There is no way of preventing stolen merchandise from being peddled, but he's "very doubtful" there will be any.

He expressed pique at Sgt. W. W. Bertz of the bunco-fraud detail of the Long Beach Police Department, who said last June that "we've never had a swap meet in Long Beach and we don't want one."

"It's kind of a slap in the face," Thys said.

Earlier swap meets were held in July and August.

Thys said games, rides and refreshments would be available.

Sellers arrive between 6 and 9 a.m., and the market is open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

3,000 Teachers Hear Challenge in L.B. Meeting

BY ROBIN PAXTON
Staff Writer

Today's schoolteachers face problems unimagined as recently as 10 years ago, the Long Beach Superintendent of Schools told 3,000 teachers Friday in the Municipal Auditorium.

But, Superintendent W. Odie Wright told the teachers at the annual Teacher's Institute he thought the Long Beach Unified School District could handle any problems that arise.

Wright began his address by quoting former President Lyndon B. Johnson:

"Time, which was our friend for so long, is impatient now. Rarely in our history have the crossroads for America been so clearly marked. Rarely has so much depended upon the turn we now take."

WRIGHT, IN REVIEWING THE SCHOOL SYSTEM, focused on two goals for both teachers and administrators:

—"Involve the school community, including parents and students, more actively in decision-making processes."

—"Refine the processes of staff development in determining major district-wide goals and specific school-level objectives."

"The emphasis in this school system has been on quality as well as quantity, on people as well as on plant," Wright said.

He summed up the feelings of dedicated teachers with words of Henry Adams:

"A teacher affects eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops."

Music was provided by the all-district Senior High School Orchestra, directed by Fred Ohlendorf.

M. A. Duncan, Board of Education president, chaired the meeting.

Quake Standards for Buildings Hit

By CHARLES SUTTON
Staff Writer

The United Property Owners Association, which has been battling the city's condemnation program against earthquake-hazardous buildings, said Friday it plans to carry the fight to court.

Mrs. Louise White, new association president, said the property owners agreed to seek the services of "the finest attorney we can get" to put a halt to the condemnation proceedings.

She said the group plans to apply for a temporary restraining order against the city and the City Council in federal District Court.

The City Building and Safety Department has sent more than a hundred condemnation letters to owners of unreinforced brick buildings of pre-1934 vintage.

It has also sent "letters of request" to 160 owners, informing them of the need for repairs or demolition, a spokesman added.

The property owner group formed early this year in an effort to block the city's policy toward owners of condemned buildings.

According to the building department, structures built before 1934 — without reinforced masonry — are potential quake hazards.

LEONARD G. WOLF
Supports 'Hunger Walk'

Teen-Agers Plan 33-Mile L.B. 'Walk Against Hunger'

By TOM WILLMAN
Staff Writer

"Hunger and malnutrition exist throughout the world—and Long Beach, California is no exception."

With that statement and a $50,000 goal, a group of Long Beach teen-agers Friday moved into final stages of planning a 33-mile "Walk Against Hunger" Nov. 29.

"An awful lot of technicalities" remain to be worked out, committee members Randi Gottlieb and Jo Anne Volland told Leonard G. Wolf, leader of the American Freedom From Hunger Foundation.

The Long Beach walk will be made under the auspices of the national group, founded by the late President John F. Kennedy, Wolf said.

"The first walk took place in Fargo, N.D.," said Wolf. "There have been 40 walks since."

Accenting Miss Gottlieb's aim for "total community involvement," Wolf emphasized "this is a walk, not a march. The word 'march' carries a tone of militancy."

"We've had no incidents in any of the walks," he said.

"We all have a lot to learn from each other," Miss Gottlieb added. "Within a few blocks, the walk will move from the Virginia Country Club homes to the Carmelitos Housing Project."

Walkers raise funds by seeking "sponsors" — friends or business associates — to pledge money for a certain distance to be covered.

Funds raised by 4,000 projected walkers will be divided between local Neighborhood Centers and Long Beach's sister city of Valparaiso, Chile.

Doctors' Insurance Forces Fees Up

By BEN ZINSER
Medical-Science Editor

Long Beach doctors are being forced to raise their fees because of an increase in their malpractice insurance premiums, a medical society official said Friday.

Dr. George Evashwick, vice president of the Long Beach Medical Association, said the hike in doctors' insurance premiums will have a "terrific impact" on medical costs.

The Nettleship Co. of Los Angeles, an insurance brokerage which handles about 85 per cent of the liability insurance for Southern California physicians, announced major premium increases will take effect Oct. 1.

The average increase premium will be 110 per cent, said John C. Allen, company president.

ALLEN SAID THE PREMIUM INCREASES ARE a result of a greater number of malpractice cases and the "cost of closing each case." Closing costs have increased by 13.5 per cent, he said.

He said actuaries have advised him there has been a loss of $20 million in 12 Southern California counties since 1963.

Allen said the biggest premiums will be paid by anesthesiologists, plastic surgeons, neurosurgeons, orthopedic surgeons and obstetricians and gynecologists.

These high-risk specialists who have policy limits of $100,000-$300,000 will be paying $3,452 a year in contrast to $1,591 last year.

In the lowest risk category are internal medicine specialists and pediatricians who don't perform tonsillectomies. Their premiums will go to $897 from $503.

Allen said his firm handles insurance for 11,200 physicians in 12 Southern California counties.

Dr. Evashwick noted premium rates went up by 100 per cent last year.

"I KNOW AN ANESTHESIOLOGIST WHO RIGHT now is paying a premium of $4,000 a year," he said.

"I see no alternative but to raise fees," he added.

"In the final analysis, it is the public who will pay."

Dr. Evashwick said doctors for some time have been ordering unnecessary X-ray films and laboratory tests to protect themselves in the event of lawsuits.

"A doctor doesn't dare rely on his clinical judgment any longer," he continued. "People have become so suit-conscious."

Dr. Evashwick, himself a general surgeon, said some plastic surgeons no longer carry insurance because of the exorbitant premiums asked of them.

HE SAID THESE PLASTIC SURGEONS ASK their patients to sign waiver papers before operations and tell them, "No use suing me; I don't have insurance."

A Long Beach anesthesiologist, who asked that his name not be used, said he has had to raise his fees because of insurance demands.

"Ten dollars of every one of my anesthetic fees goes for insurance," he said.

"And I know doctors who already are paying $6,000 to $10,000 annually for insurance," he continued. "This new premium increase will raise fees again. It has to."

One Long Beach doctor said general surgeons who 15 years ago could safely carry $25,000 coverage have to protect themselves now with coverage ranging from $300,000 to $900,000.

Franklin Wilner of Westminster says: "I needed a low priced car for driving to work, etc. at a low budget figure. Believe me, it is hard to find a reliable car at a price, but Mrs. Wilner and I did... at Lee White Chrysler-Plymouth. We bought a nice 1964 Chevrolet Wagon for a very low down payment and very low monthly payments. We've had no problems at all with our wagon. It's a great car."

Bernard Gollett of Anaheim says: "I must have shopped at least a dozen places for the car I wanted (a clean 1965 or 1966 Pontiac) but no one had the car I needed or the terms I could afford. Finally I decided to try Lee White Chrysler-Plymouth. They had a wonderful clean 1965 Pontiac Grand Prix. About terms on full price there was no argument. I would recommend Lee White Chrysler-Plymouth to anyone."
